

Scout Retreat Planned

Details for the annual retreat for Catholic Scouts and leaders sponsored by the Catholic Committee on Scouting were announced this week.

According to Joseph Costello, executive director, the retreat will be the first time units will leave council premises for the natural beauty and spiritual surroundings of the Divine Word Seminary at Saint Michael's Mission House in Conesus, New York.

Units from the Monroe County area will enter camp on Friday, Oct. 4 and will remain for the closing ceremonies on Monday, Oct. 6.

With special permission Scouts will be escorted on escorted tours of the mission buildings, work shops, garden and shrines to show the visitors how the young men at the seminary undertake the work in the missionary field.

EACH GROUP planning on attending must make reservations in advance of the week-end. They must supply their own transportation, and make their own accommodations.

The committee formulates the subject of the program for both spiritual and educational needs and a special recreation program involving all retreatants.

Andy Merritt, health and safety director, will supervise the controlled cooking by charcoal, briquets and aluminum foil grills and improvised stoves outdoors, giving each Scout the opportunity to earn and learn while doing. Merrill says that a natural reward for scouts who meet the requirements of the retreat is the award of the Ad Altare Dei Award.

CONFESSIONS will be heard in three for Mass and Communion and confessions for various sacraments will be part of the program. A special Saturday night event is being planned and all of the leaders, scouts and advisory will participate.

Scout leaders and their families may get a preview of the retreat campsite and mission surroundings by attending the annual festival conducted by the Society of the Divine Word at Saint Michael's Mission House.

Festival Set At St. Aloysius

Monroe Deanery Slates Volunteer Bureau Head

The initial Fall meeting of the Monroe Deanery will be held at St. Stanislaus Church Tuesday, Sept. 17 at 8 p.m. Following the recitation of the Rosary the featured speaker will be Mrs. Lynn French, executive director of the Volunteer Bureau, Council of Social Agencies of Rochester and Monroe County.

MRS. FRENCH has invited guest panelists from well known social agencies and she will moderate a discussion covering all phases of volunteer work in the community.

The information presented will aid affiliations in selecting a project for the year and/or stimulate individuals to offer volunteer service and assist agencies in meeting community needs.

The Monroe Deanery has initiated this year ten groups located in various parishes that will contact women within their area trying to find volunteers to coordinate and carry out volunteer services in the community.

Club Plans Pilgrimage

The third annual pilgrimage sponsored by the St. Thomas More Club to the Shrine of the North American Martyrs at Auriesville will be held on Sunday, Sept. 15. Price for the day will be $3.50 (not including lunch). The group will leave at 9 a.m. from Brighton Bowl. Reservations can be made by contacting Judy Cronin, Gl. 8-7743 or Maureen Anderson, FT. 2-2154. Anyone not driving will be picked up at their homes.

GOD LOVE YOU!

By MOST REV. FULTON J. SHEEN

Is this the "Atomic Age" in which we live, or is it the "Hunger Age?" Which is more explosive: the fusion of a hydrogen atom or the starving stomachs of the poor? Nations trigger nuclear warfare, but emptiness is human dynamite.

Hunger is the more terrible because it is the opposite of riches. One-fourth of the world gets richer; almost all of the rest become poorer. Economic development enriches the rich, and technological progress impoverishes the poor. A French writer tells us that before World War II 38 per cent of the world's population did not have enough to eat; now 60 per cent are in that condition. No, the starving have no army, but they have a General—and his name is Hunger.

This is not an economic condition; it is a moral condition. And the burden falls principally on the Church. Take the vast areas of Africa, Asia and Latin America—would you take the vow to fast if they could live as well as those who profess it? These people live in a state of compulsory fasting; they have not the vow of poverty, but the "vow" of destitution—and destitution is not a vow because it is forced on them.

Sometimes, too, individual rows of poverty go hand in hand with corporate wealth. It is like having no apple on the plate but a barrel full in the cellar. "Blessed are the poor in spirit," said the Lord. Does not that apply to all who are signed with the Cross? In the case of 25 million in Brazil who subsist on 1 cent a day, given a land where 500 of every 1,000 babies perish in 1963 a year, have we not a duty to share our possessions with their first year and the rest go on a diet of molasses and manioc root flour, with no milk, have we the moral right to put up a cathedral or a church costing over a million dollars without sharing?

The fact is, we have too much and others too little, and the Son of God bids us bear the burdens of others. Instead of adding wealth to wealth, building to building, we should be adding share to share, but in other lands, in some places, the dead are not buried in coffins, but in paper because wood is too costly. One hundred thousand people in one city are totally unemployed and spend their time scavenging through trash cans for a few cents a week for a few cents a day. They are busy because they are busy but they have no money.

Oh, yes, we give the Holy Father a collection a year for all his poor in Africa, Asia, parts of Latin America, Oceania and Northern Europe—an average per capita contribution of 27 cents per Catholic. But should it not be $27 each, or $270 each? And this not because we fear the revolt of the masses, but because we fear for the Church and the faith in the United States unless we stop providing our wants before we care for the needs of our brethren in Christ. Millions will read this and say "How true!" But how many dozen will read it and say: "I will be true to Christ who died for me; therefore I shall do a little dying in sacrifice for those in whom He relieves His poverty. If you will be one of these dozens, send the results of your sacrifice or write for information on wills and annuities to The Society for the Propagation of the Faith, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

GOD LOVE YOU! to Anonymous for $11 "Money saved by rolling my own cigarettes, working overtime and other economies. With a roof over my head and three meals a day, I am rich compared to your missionaries." . . . to J.A.H. for $10 "For a special favor." . . . to E.S. for $2 "Most of my ten children need shoes. A dear friend gave me $20 so I will send this to the missions and hope it helps a little." . . . to Mr. and Mrs. H.H. for $5 "This small sum was left over after we returned from a nice vacation."

Cut out this coupon, fill your sacrifice to it and mail it to Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, National Director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, N.Y. or your Diocesan Director, Rev. John F. Duffy, 50 Chestnut Street, Rochester 4, New York.

Luncheon Planned

NOTRE DAME Women's Organization of Rochester is holding its annual luncheon on Sept. 23 at 12 noon in the Treadway Inn. Co-chairmen are Mrs. Thomas Murray, left, and Mrs. Joseph Kenney. Officializing for the first time since taking office will be the new officers as follows: president, Mrs. J. William Reeves; vice president, Mrs. John Kelsch; secretary, Mrs. Reginald Morrison; treasurer, Mrs. Clark Wallis; program, Mrs. E. Royal Hanna, and publicity, Mrs. Edward Christiano. On the agenda as speaker is Miss Harriette Thomas of the Harriette Thomas Galleries to speak on interior decorating. A tour through her galleries on Alexander St. has also been scheduled for the afternoon.
