

Mrs. Foster Requiem Sung In Auburn

Auburn.—Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Foster of 3 Fourth Ave., widow of John F. Foster, former warden at Auburn Prison, were held Nov. 11 at the Avery E. Neagle Funeral Home. Prayers were offered by Rev. Michael Conboy of Holy Trinity Church, Rochester, a cousin of the deceased and Rev. Raymond J. Wahl, pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

A SOLEMN MASS of requiem was offered at Sacred Heart Church by Rev. Charles Foster of Binghamton, a nephew of the deceased, assisted by Father Conboy as deacon and Father Wahl as sub-deacon. In the sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Msgr. James D. Cuffney, V.F., Reverend Fathers William E. Davis, John Merklinger, C. Irwin Sullivan, Edward Shamon, Clarence Gardner and Albert Casan.

A delegation from the Knights of Columbus Auxiliary attended the church services. Sisters of St. Joseph also attended the Mass. The Rosary Society of Sacred Heart and the Catholic Daughters of America were led in the recitation of the Rosary Thursday of last week by Father Wahl. A large delegation of members of the Rosary and Scapular Society of St. Mary's Church paid their respects at the funeral home Sunday night. Mrs. Foster had been an officer of the society.

Reviews Armstrong Novel

"A real woman—in a real world—with very real problems," was the critic's judgment of the heroine of April Armstrong's new novel, "WATER IN THE WINE," in last Tuesday's Noonday book review. The critic was Dr. William L. Madden, speaking at the Catholic Evidence Library.

THE STORY, he went on, concerns the painful dilemma facing a Catholic wife and mother, who has been warned by her doctor that another pregnancy may be fatal. She is suffering from a serious kidney infection at the time.

She seems to have a three horned dilemma, as the reviewer summed them up:

- 1. She wants to be able to love her husband—completely.
- 2. She wants to remain a good Catholic.
- 3. She does not want to risk her life through another pregnancy.

"The way this couple—who are better than average Catholics—faces this problem, and the painful trials it brings, is the heart of the novel," the physician-reviewer stated.

"As a reader, I found the story very enjoyable—but for me, the ending was disappointing," he said.

"The heroine died—from a condition which was completely unrelated to her kidney problem. It seemed that the author went out of her way to set up a situation that was rather impossible, just so the heroine could die."

In addition to the unhappy ending, Dr. Madden found fault with the heavy emphasis on the "Catholic atmosphere" of the novel.

"It's not only about Catholics in a tightly knit Catholic parish environment. The faith is being talked about on almost every page—this seems to read, and a bit unrealistic to me," he noted.

The doctor's critique was the last in the fall series of the Noonday Book Reviews which will resume with a winter series on Jan. 14.
