Marine Midland Trust In Elmira Holds Annual Stockholders Meeting

The annual meeting of stockholders of Marine Midland Trust Company of Southern New York was held today, Monday, Jan. 20, at the bank's Lake Street office in Elmira.

In their jointly signed report to stockholders, Charles A. Winding, chairman of the board, and John H. Wurtz, president, in commenting on general business conditions nationally noted that the year began with a general feeling of optimism. That optimism, in a very large measure, was based on the expectation that income taxes would be reduced and the reduction would become effective before the year ended. Although that expectation was not fulfilled, the hope that the reduction would ultimately be adopted, coupled with steady growth in the economy as evidenced by principal indices, sustained business sentiment throughout the year.

The report noted that on Nov. 1, 1963, Marine Midland Trust of Southern New York celebrated two important anniversaries: one hundred ten years ago in 1853 the Elmira Bank, oldest predecessor in the organization, was founded; ten years ago on Nov. 1, 1953, a merger of the Elmira Bank & Trust Company with banks in Binghamton, Johnson City and Cortland resulted in the Marine Midland Trust Company of Southern New York as we know it today.

During the past decade this bank has made decided progress. For example, on Dec. 31, 1963, the bank's statement of condition showed total resources to be $114 million compared with $182 million on Dec. 31, 1953; deposits were $103 million in 1953 and $189 million in 1963; loans and mortgages increased from $49 million to $105 million; capital assets, including reserves from $8.8 million to $17.8 million; total number of accounts increased from 87,380 to 110,478, and the number of banking offices from 14 to 18.

Achievements of the past year included the construction of a new banking office at 117 West Main St. in the Union district of Elmira. In November official authorization was received from the New York State Banking Department to relocate the Merchants Office from its present location at 109 West Water St. to 117 North Main St. It is hoped that the new location, with additional office space and greater parking convenience at adjacent Midtown and nearby Cortland parking facilities, will be ready about July 1964. As the year ended, the bank was engaged in preparation of plans for remodeling and modernizing the Horseheads and West Side Binghamton offices at the latter location, where-in facilities will be added.

During the first half of the year all demand deposit accounts, checking accounts, were transferred from a manual system to electronic data processing equipment. This complex undertaking, making use of facilities shared with the Marine Midland Trust Company of Rochester, marks a revolution in bank accounting and the first

New Rank For Cadet

Cadets - Cadet John A. Priddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Priddy of St. Dennis Pkwy. E. has been promoted to Sergeant in the Corps of Cadets at the Massachusetts Military Academy at Woodstock, Va.

Col. D. E. Doherty, public information officer, said the promotion was based upon military proficiency, leadership potential and acceptance of responsibility.

A junior at Massachusetts, Sgt. Priddy is a signal officer on the special staff, a member of the "Echo" staff, the 1,000 Men Club, Glee Club, Jefferson Literary Society and plays varsity basketball.

DO YOU KNOW THE CATHOLIC MARKET FACTS?

175,500 READERS*

PLUS a "BONUS" too!

It's a fact . . . a recent reader survey shows that 175,500 individuals read the Courier-Journal weekly. This figure includes 134,500 readers over 18 years of age and 39,000 readers under 18. The plus comes from the Courier readers who pass on their copy of the Courier to others (32% pass it - giving a bonus of at least 12,500 weekly Courier readers.) Incidentally the 134,500 readers comprise 17% of the total population of the 12 county area.

Ask to see a copy of the Courier Readership Survey - it's available now. A call to BA 5-2110 will bring prompt attention.
