Recommendation: Adapted from Jean Anouilh's play of the same title, produced against magnificent settings and filmed with beautifully appropriate photography, this major motion picture portrays the historical conflict between Henry II of England and Thomas a Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, saint and martyr. The literary script and sensitive direction, while not concerned with sounding the supernatural depths of Becket's holiness, nevertheless achieves, with great respect and wonder, a mature drama about integrity of conscience. Becket is a film which is specially recommended to the attention of adult audiences; under proper direction, adolescents might also view it with profit.

Note: This recommendation and this classification are restricted to the American version of the film.

Class A, Section 4
Doctor Strangelove

Observation: Billed as a "nightmare comedy," this film about the possibility of a worldwide nuclear holocaust will be received by many as a brilliant satire on the military mind and our defense policy. Others will see it as irreverent and even dangerous buffoonery which is just as sophisticated in its own way as the concept of the defense establishment which it purports to satirize. Reservations are also indicated because the director has endeavored to elicit too many of the laughs from vulgar references and symbols which are unnecessary to the development of his theme. An A-IV classification is given.

An A-IV classification is given to certain films which, while not morally offensive in themselves, require caution and some analysis and explanation to the uninitiated against wrong interpretations and false conclusions.

Class B
Horror Of Party Beach

Objection: Suggestive costuming, dancing and situations.
Kissin' Cousins

Objection: This film whose only appeal would be for young boys, deliberately concentrates on suggestive costuming and situations.

David applied a sterile bandage to the injured hand and used some tourniquets to control the heavy bleeding. Child Topic For Meeting

Washington — (NC) — Experts in theology, medicine, law, sociology, marriage counseling and other fields related to family and education will join some 1,000 delegates at the 29th National Catholic Family Life convention here Jan. 25 to 28.

"The Glory of the Child" will be the theme of the convention sponsored by the Family Life Bureau, National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The Washington meeting, which will discuss the rights of the child within the context of family and society in the U.S., will serve as a follow-up to the World Congress on the Rights of the Child, held last April in Beirut, Lebanon, under the auspices of the International Catholic Child-Bureau and the Catholic International Education Office, the NCWC Bureau said.

Basic documents to be used by the family life leaders at the convention, in addition to papal encyclicals on the subject, will be the U.N. Universal Declaration of Human Rights (1948) and the U.N. Declaration on the Rights of the Child (1959), it was announced.

A Candle at the Cathedral

New York — (RNS) — Stage and screen star Van Johnson is shown lighting a candle in St. Patrick's Cathedral in token of gratitude after a recent operation had shown no recurrence of the cancer removed from his thigh a year ago. The actor, a Protestant, lit the candle in fulfillment of a vow he made on hearing the good news from his doctors.

Prelate Tells Of SNA At Council

Detroit — (RNS) — Archbishop John F. Dearden of Detroit, speaking before some 350 Protestant, Orthodox and Jewish clergymen, predicted here that the Second Vatican Council will endorse schemes for relations with Jewish-Christian relations and religious liberty at its next session.

His prediction came before a meeting of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Christian Unity, the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church Council officials said.

Archbishop Dearden is a member of the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, which drew up the draft ecumenism considered by the Ecumenical Council.

The first session of the Council (which ended in 1962) was marked by a period of drift and confusion, according to Archbishop Dearden. Evidence of accomplishment came in the second session, he said, citing the acceptance and promulgation of changes in liturgy and communications decrees.

The Detroit prelate said many Council Fathers had changed their views during that session, largely because of persuasive and compelling discussions on the Council floor. If a poll had been taken before the Council opened, he said, it would have indicated rejection — not approval, as later occurred — of use of the vernacular in the Mass.

Films Listed At Museum

"The World of Sholom Aleichem" is the title of a color film to be shown at Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences on Saturday, Feb. 16, at 2:30 p.m. and at 3:30 p.m. to which the public is invited.

The second film on the Sunday film program is an animated Disney color film which traces the origin of musical instruments. The film "Toot, Whistle, Plunk and Boom" has a series of interesting and humorous sound effects.
