Class A, Section 3
Guest, The
Youngblood Hawke
Becket

Recommendation: Adapted from Jean Anouilh's play of the same title, produced against magnificent settings and filmed with beautifully appropriate photography, this major motion picture portrays the historical conflict between Henry II of England and Thomas a Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, saint and martyr. The literate script and sensitive direction, while not concerned with sounding the supernatural depths of Becket's holiness, nevertheless achieves, with great respect and wonder, a mature drama about integrity of conscience. Becket is a film which is specially recommended to the attention of adult audiences; under proper direction adolescents might also view it with profit.

Note: This recommendation and this classification are restricted to the American version of the film.

Class A, Section 4
Doctor Strangelove

Observation: Billed as a "nightmare comedy," this film about the possibility of a world-wide nuclear holocaust will be received by many as a brilliant satire on the military mind and our defense policy. Others will see it as irreverent and even dangerous buffoonery which is just as sophomoric in its own way as the concept of the defense establishment which it purports to satirize. Reservations are also indicated because the director has endeavored to elicit too many of the laughs from vulgar references and symbols which are unnecessary to the development of his theme. An A-IV classification is given

An A-IV classification is given to certain films which, while not morally offensive in themselves, require caution and some analysis and explanation to the uninformed against wrong interpretations and false conclusions.

Class B
Horror Of Party Beach

Objection: Suggestive costuming, dancing and situations.
Kissin' Cousins

Objection: This film whose only appeal would be for young people, deliberately concentrates on suggestive costuming and situations.

Scout Receives National Honor

Horseheads—David Boothe, a Star Scout in Troop 32 sponsored by St. Mary's Men's Club, was recently awarded a certificate of merit by the National Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of America.

While hunting rabbits near Elmira, Dale Brown tripped and discharged his gun, severing two fingers. The boy's father and David Boothe heard his cries and went to his aid. David applied a sterile bandage to the injured hand and used a loose tourniquet to control the heavy bleeding. They loaded the injured boy into a car and took him to a hospital where his wounds were treated. All the way to the hospital—for more than an hour—David remained at the injured boy's side applying first aid and encouraging him.

A Candle at The Cathedral

New York — (RNS) — Stage and screen star Van Johnson is shown lighting a candle in St. Patrick's Cathedral in token of gratitude after a recent operation had shown no recurrence of the cancer removed from his thigh a year ago. The actor, a Protestant, lit the candle in fulfillment of a vow he made on hearing the good news from his doctors.

Prelate Tells Of Shift At Council

Detroit — (RNS) — Archbishop John F. Dearden of Detroit, speaking before some 350 Protestant, Orthodox and Jewish clergymen, predicted here that the Second Vatican Council will endorse schema chapters on Jewish-Christian relations and religious liberty at its next session.

His prediction came before a meeting of the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches at the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian church. Council officials said Archbishop Dearden's appearance was the first by a Roman Catholic prelate before the organization.

Archbishop Dearden is a member of the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, which drew up the draft on ecumenism considered by the Ecumenical Council.

The first session of the Council (which ended in 1962) was marked by a period of drift and confusion, according to Archbishop Dearden. Evidence of accomplishments came in the second session, he said, citing the acceptance and promulgations of changes in the liturgy and the communications decree.

The Detroit prelate said many Council Fathers had changed their views during that session, largely because of persuasive and compelling discussions on the Council floor. If a poll had been taken before the Council opened, he said, it would have indicated rejection — not approval, as later occurred — of use of the vernacular in the

'Becket' Movie Wins Legion Commendation

New York — (NC) — The National Legion of Decency has "specially recommended to the attention of adult audiences" the movie "Becket." The film has Richard Burton in the title role with Peter O'Toole as King Henry II.

The legion evaluated the picture, in its A-3 classification (morally unobjectionable for adults) with the notation that "under proper direction adolescents might also view it with profit."

The commendation by the "Adapted from Jean Anouilh's play of the same title, produced against magnificent settings and filmed with beautifully appropriate photography, this major motion picture portrays the historical conflict between Henry II of England and Thomas a Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury, saint and martyr.

The legion noted that its recommendation and classification are restricted to the American version of the film.

A spokesman for the legion cautioned against regarding the film as a "life of a saint," but rather a portrayal of Thomas a Becket "as seen through the eyes of a secular humanist."
