Concert To Benefit Nun's Music Program

Chuck Mangione, well-known young Rochester composer, conductor and performer, will present a Concert of Modern Music on Sunday, April 5, at 8 p.m. in the Nazareth Academy Auditorium at 1001 Lake Ave. The concert will benefit the Sisters of St. Joseph instrumental music program, according to Sister Florian, supervisor.

The program will feature six original compositions by Mangione, his special arrangement of selections from "West Side Story" and an original work written by Gap Mangione, brother of the conductor, for large brass ensemble.

Soloists will include John Beck, Joe Romano and Chuck Mangione. Gap Mangione will conduct his own composition, "A Tone Poem: Amore e Tristezza," with his brother as flugelhorn soloist.

Beck, instructor of percussion at the Eastman School of Music and timpanist for the Rochester Philharmonic and Civic Orchestras, will perform "Two Dances for Percussion, Brass Quintet and Piano." This work was written by Chuck Mangione specifically for Beck's master's degree recital.

Joe Romano, regular member of the Jazz Brothers, led by the Mangiones, will be the soloist on a composition entitled "She's Gone," written by the conductor for tenor sax and string/woodwind orchestra. Romano will also play alto sax and flute on other works. In addition to playing with the Jazz Brothers, Joe Romano is a recording artist who has played with Woody Herman and the Mary Kaye Trio, among others, and is currently teaching in the Rochester parochial schools and as a private instructor in tenor and alto sax and flute.

Mangione is a native of Rochester, graduate of the Eastman School of Music with a B.M. Degree in Music Education in 1963. He has studied arranging with Rayburn Wright, director of Radio City Music Hall, at the Eastman School, performs and records with the Jazz Brothers and teaches privately and in the Rochester parochial schools.

Gap Mangione, pianist, composer, recording artist and co-leader of the Jazz Brothers, is currently completing studies for a liberal arts music degree at Syracuse University. His original work for large bass ensemble was first performed at Syracuse University's Festival of Arts.

The program will include selections for full orchestra, studio band and brass quintet. All music and arrangements included in the program are original with the Mangione brothers.

Proceeds from this benefit performance will be used for the purchase of instruments and accoutrements to the instrumental music program offered by the Sisters of St. Joseph in their diocesan schools.

Tickets are available at $1.50 for adults, $1 for students at Levis Music Store, 412 Main St. East or by phoning LO 2-3753.

Disc Notes

That Latin Feeling

by PAUL CONTESTABLE

The compelling sound of Bert Kaempfert and his orchestra heads south of the border with his latest Decca release, That Latin Feeling. His unique styling captures all the excitement of a trip to the Latin countries with such tunes as Maria Elena, Besame Mucho, Sweet and Gentle, Poinciana and The Breeze and I.

Three of Kaempfert's own creations are included in the album to add still more fascinating rhythm for listening and dancing pleasure. Sure to capture the hearts of all who hear the album is Bert's Bossa Nova. And his Trumpet Fiesta is a brilliant work that enhances his impeccable taste and superb artistry.

Bert Kaempfert's music is rapidly gaining in popularity with each album adding another notch in an impressive record. When Bert Kaempfert's name is on the album cover, you can be sure of enjoyable entertainment.

Peter Duchin, his piano and strings offer an Invitation to more charming music in the Duchin style on his latest Decca album. While just completing his first starring role in a major motion picture, "The World of Henry Orient," Duchin continues to thrill audiences at the famed St. Regis Hotel in New York, where he is selling out nightly.

Included in his latest release are Lazy Afternoon, I Didn't Know Chat Time It Was, They Say It's Wonderful, Sometimes I'm Happy and That's All. A flawless performance that is a feast for the ears.

Warren Covington and his orchestra supply the rhythms and the beat to a full spectrum of exciting Latin dances in his album, "Let's Dance Latin on the Decca label. His fresh and imaginative treatment of some first rate music couldn't be better.

He offers us the rhumba beat of Tenderly, the samba of Contico, the bossa nova of Our Day will Come, as well as cha cha's, the wobble, merengue and the ay-bo-le. Solid rhythm throughout.

Two radically new phonographs have recently been marketed by Mercury Phonographs, a division of Mercury Records, which merit mention in this column. Extremely lightweight, compact and completely transistorized, the new battery-powered phonographs can be carried anywhere in the world and used for a wide variety of teaching and social programs by religious workers and missionaries.

Fully powered by just six ordinary flashlight batteries, Mercury's AG 4000 and AG 4126 phonographs, weigh only 4½ and 8 pounds respectively. Equipped with diamond stereo cartridges, the phonographs play all size records, both stereo and monophonic, with superior console tone quality from a Ticonal speaker and require no AC house current.

The smaller AG 4000, with a 4-inch Ticonal speaker and second volume control, is a three-speed unit which shuts off automatically at the end of a record for longer battery and needle life. While in use, a centrifugal governor in the sealed motor keeps the turntable running at a smooth, constant speed. It retails for $39.95.

The four-speed AG 4126 with its seven-inch Ticonal speaker, in addition to having all of the AG 4000 features, can also be played on regular AC house current through the use of an optional adaptor, and has volume and tone control as well as a stereo jack which enables the user to enjoy stereo sound by hooking up with a transistorized radio, table radio, television set or optional Mercury Phonograph speaker. It retails for $59.95.

While these new phonographs would make a welcome gift to a nun or priest, particularly in the mission fields, many uses could be found around any household — particularly one with children. Both phonographs boast a respectable 90-8,000 cps frequency response.
