Long Island Diocese Gives 14 Family Planning Info

Rockville Centre (N.C.)—The New York and San Francisco Diocese of Rockville Centre is launching a "Family Planning Information Center" to give married couples information about the morally acceptable use of the rhythm system.

Bishop Walter P. Kellenberg of Rockville Centre said the new facility will be established as a pilot project at Merry Hospital here. If it proves a success other such centers will be established throughout the diocese.

The center will be staffed by priests and doctors on a volunteer basis. The priests will provide information about Church doctrine on moral aspects of family planning, while the doctors will counsel on medical aspects of the rhythm system.

Several other U.S. dioceses have established similar centers, including the Archdiocese of New York.
