Winners Named In Annual Sewing Contest

The 3rd annual sewing contest and fashion show sponsored by the Women's Club of Rochester was held recently. Capturing first place in the women's division was Mrs. Thomas Decker of Torwood Circle, Pittsford, a member of St. Louis Church.

Mrs. Decker wore a white coat coat with shiny black button trim, a white jumper over a long sleeved black crepe blouse or cocktail dress without the blouse and a smart white hat with a black band (which she also made).

Miss Ruth Ann Unger of Lyell Road, won first place in the junior division. She is a senior at Nazareth Academy and her sewing teacher is Sister M. Marie Lawrence.

This was Ruth's first year of home economics — sewing that is. Her costume was a navy and white houndstooth suit and a white, lined cotton pique vest-like blouse with gold buttons. White hat with a wide navy ribbon band.

First prize winners in both divisions are elgible to represent the WCOR at the 7th Judicial District of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs judging to be held at Midtown Hotel, on Saturday, April 4 at noon, followed by a luncheon at 1 p.m.

Following this judging, the winners garments will be sent to the New York State Convention to be held at Grossingers from May 4-9, to be judged with garments from the other seven district winners in New York State.

Vietnam — Red Target

By FATHER PATRICK O'CONNOR
Society of St. Columban

Saigon — (NC) — South Vietnam holds a high priority on the list of communist interests at present.

This priority must date from the months when the Ngo dinh Diem government seemed likely to fall as a result of Buddhist agitation, and American disapproval. Steps taken by the communists, in Vietnam and abroad, since November must have been discussed and decided upon earlier.

In December the central committee of the "Labor party," the Dang Lao Dong, which is the Vietnam communist party, met in Hanoi.

THE DELIBERATIONS may have continued longer than the leaders cared to admit, for no exact dates for the meeting seem to have been published. Furthermore, no report of the meeting was issued until Jan. 20.

The communist - sponsored "National Liberation Front of South-Vietnam" held its second congress from Jan. 1 to 9. Founded in December, 1960, it held its first congress in February-March, 1962, and was supposed to hold its next congress in the following year. The front is the agency by which the North Vietnam community regime wages war on the south, incuding terrorism against Vietnamese and American civilians.

During the recent congress the chairman declared, in his report, that the front is "opening a new period full of promise." He added: "Never has the situation been so bright as it is at present." He called for an end to the war, the withdrawal of American forces and negotiation to achieve "a policy of peace and neutrality."

Delegations from the front have been visiting communist capitals. The chairman boasted that "many governments" had received these delegations as "real diplomatic envoys of a state."

The front now maintains a permanent delegation in Prague, a communist capital from which contacts with other parts of Europe and with Africa are fairly easy.

On Jan. 31 an important delegation of the Vietnam "Labor party," that is, the Communist party, arrived in Moscow. It had been invited by the Communits party of Soviet Russia. Headed by Le Duan, who holds the key position of first secretary of the Vietnam party's central committee, the delegation spent 11 days in Moscow. On Feb. 8, the members had a long session with "Comrade N. S. Khrushchev," who gave a party for them on the same day. Soviet bigwigs such as Mikoyan, Brezhnev and others were present.

On the way to and from Moscow the North Vietnam communist delegation visited Peking. On their arrival back in Hanoi on Feb. 14, they were welcomed by Ho chi Minh and other Vietnamese communist leaders at the airport.

Meanwhile the most important communist diplomat ever to come to South Vietnam had arrived in Saigon. He is the head of the Polish delegation in the International Commission for Supervision and Control. Only in such a capacity could any communist representative openly enter South Vietnam.

The new Polish delegate, who holds the rank of ambassador, is M. R. Spasowski, who was for years Polish ambassador in Washington and morerecently one of the top men in the ministry of foreign affairs in Warsaw. Here he replaced a man who had not held any comparable positions. Ambassador Spasowski's arrival here in January emphasized the importance that "many governments" had that the Polish Communist party and, it must be presumed, the Russian communists attach to Vietnam at present.

Up to now the North Vietnam regime has not sided definitely with either Moscow or Peking in the communist family quarrel. It has echoed the Chinese pronouncements more than the Russian. The Chinese communists are too near to be safely contradicted by Hanoi.

Meditation In Maryland

Annapolis—(RNS)—A Maryland legislature bill requiring a moment of meditation in public schools won approval here, but only on the understanding teachers may not hold or read from Bibles during the period of silence.

"Silent meditation" as a substitute for open prayer barred by the U.S. Supreme Court won passage in the General Assembly. Gov. J. Millard Tawes had asked for an opinion on the bill's constitutionality in a memo to Thomas B. Finan, attorney general.

Finan held that that part of the bill permitting a teacher to hold a Bible as she directed her students to begin a "moment of meditation" was unconstitutional.
