Lynd Wins Title In Aquinas Bouts

By WHIT JOHNSON

Three defending titlists were among the 22 champions crowned last weekend in the annual Aquinas Mission Bouts finals at Aquinas Institute.

Scoring wins to keep their titles were heavy middleweight Vic Lynd, senior welterweight Jim Degnan and light heavyweight Lou Spiotti.

The 151-pound Lynd also had the distinction of becoming the third fighter in the 27-year history of the Bouts to win the Outstanding Fighter Trophy twice. The trophy, donated annually by city industrialist Ray Hickok, also was won twice by Dick Tierney in 1954 and 1955, and by Emmette Neary in 1956 and 1957.

The Abe Ruff Trophy, emblematic of the night's best fight, was awarded to the one that kept the capacity crowd jumping — a real welterweight donnybrook between Mike Marren and John LaPorta. The split decision was awarded to LaPorta.

DENNIS CLARK, fighting in the junior airweight division, won the Art Telerico Trophy as the outstanding freshman fighter of the night. Clark won the trophy, honoring the memory of former boxing champion Telerico who was killed in a tractor accident in 1955, in a close decision over Frank Giancola.

The only TKO in two nights of boxing resulted when Joe Blanda overpowered Joe Vaccarella in 1:13 of the first round.

Only defending champion to lose his crown was lightweight Ron Becker, who was decisioned by Tony Gala. Jim Dentinger, who was to defend his flyweight title, had to withdraw because of illness. His substitute, Frank Ciaccia, put up a game battle with Pete Scahill but lost in a split decision.

All proceeds of the Bouts will be turned over to Catholic Missions throughout the world.

Mission Results:

Tim Fitzgerald dec. Mike Allen, atomicweight; Dennis Clark dec. Frank Giancola, junior airweight; Mike Byrne dec. Dick Tette, junior flyweight; Dave Allocco dec. Burdette Shaw, junior paperweight; Joe Blanda scored TKO over Joe Vaccarella, junior bantamweight; Dean Battaglini dec. Charles Predmore, junior welterweight; Joe Whilo dec. Tony Tafomino, junior lightweight; Fred Recchio dec. Jerry Gugino, junior middleweight.

JIM DEGNAN

Sue Warden Wins Title In Skate-off

Twelve-year-old Sue Warden gained to the juvenile girls' speed skating title last Saturday in the Hudson Valley and Middle Atlantic States Championships held at Yonkers. After tying in the 440-yard event, Sue went on to win the 880-yard event to force a three way tie for the championship.

In a special skate-off of 330 yards, Sue took first place and the championship. Her time was 1:09.9. Her time in the 880 was 1:18.7.

This was Sue's final event of the season. She had been a doubtful starter from the beginning of the season due to an extended illness but went on to win almost every championship event she entered. The week before, she was injured in a fall at the U.S. Open Championships and was unable to compete in the remaining events for the championship.

Her coach, George Blackburn, has given praise to Sue's "great fighting spirit." "At the beginning of the season there was considerable doubt as to how many skating meets Sue would enter, or if she would enter any," Blackburn said. "But despite the handicap of being several weeks behind in her training due to her illness, Sue went on to a fine season."

Sue is a student at Our Lady of Good Counsel School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.H. (Bus) Warden of Ravenwood Ave.

Baseball, Track Set At McQuaid

McQuaid Jesuit High's track and baseball squads are scheduled to begin their seasons within a week.

The tracksters open a 15-meet campaign this Saturday with a home meet against Batavia at 1 p.m.; the first baseball will be tossed out on Monday, with a game at Webster launching a 16-game schedule.

Both teams will be out to match or better last year's performances, which saw the Knights' track and field men capture 5 of 6 dual meets and win the Elmira Relays, and the baseball squad score an unprecedented 9 straight wins in the course of an unusual 9-8 season.

In track, new coaches Bob Bradley and Dennis Murphy will be working with close to 100 runners, jumpers, and weightmen, seeking to fill the gaps left by last year's outstanding senior contingent. Cross-country men Eric Kendrick, Dick Lenhard, Greg Sloan, Mike Shaughnessy and John Stanley provide a good nucleus for the running events, but the only other varsity scorers from last year are junior shot-putter Paul Sadler and hurdlers Steve Borbas and Tony Laglia.

Sprinters and jumpers are the biggest question marks, with some of the answers expected to come from seniors Pete Gores, Kevin Culhane, and Tom Meisch, juniors Pete Hotra, Dave Foley, Gerry Bunce and Paul McEneany and sophs Steve Fahy, Mike LaForce, Bert DiPaola, Joe Rockwell, Bryan Burns, Dave Dunn and Pete Sear.

The baseball picture is equally unsettled, with coach Tom Seymour having had his charges outdoors only this week. Seymour, who returns to the helm after a season's breather, has some established performers in left-handed pitcher Dave Celmer, shortstop Joe Miller, second baseman Dick Deleguardia, third-sacker Bob Eckl and first baseman Tony Leonardo. A major loss has been senior right-hander Ken Schreiber, still in serious condition from an auto accident.

Potential varsity men up from last year's J.V. include pitchers Gerry Nasella and Dave Riesenberger, infielders Chick Plummer and Bill Hassett, and outfielders Mike Meteyer, Marty Countryman and Joe Salamone.

The schedules:

Cheerleaders Tourney Set

The sixth annual invitational cheerleaders' tournament will be held Saturday, April 11 at the Columbus Civic Center.

More than 60 teams will compete which constitute about 950 girls from private and public schools in New York State. The competition continues throughout the day and the trophies are awarded at the banquet in the evening. Guests at the banquet will be Mayor Frank T. Lamb and Janice Smith, member of the U.S. Olympic Skating Team.

Committee includes chairman, Mrs. Frank Malley; cochairman, Mrs. John Dale; and Mesdames Charles Zicari, John Byrne, Edward Balcer, Bernard Soehner, Kenneth Klingler, Charles Stuehler, Michael Culhane.

'Too Many Colleges'

Atlantic City (NC)— There are getting to be too many Catholic colleges in the country, the president of St. Louis University told the National Catholic Educational Association's convention here.

Father Paul C. Reinert, S.J., whose 9,800-student university is the fourth largest U.S. Catholic institution of higher education, said the quality of Catholic higher education can be weakened by random establishment of colleges.

Alumni Slates Talk By Prexy Of Holy Cross

Very Rev. Raymond J. Swords, S.J., president of Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass., will be guest of honor and the main speaker at the Annual Spring Dinner of the Holy Cross Alumni Club of Rochester at the University Club on April 15.

LOCAL CLUB President, Frank Redman Jr. has appointed Donald Karal as chairman of the dinner committee, assisted by Louis Tasciotti, John Ritz, John Shields and Lawrence Oberiles.

Father Swords' visit will highlight the successful completion of the College's Capital Fund Drive in the Rochester area. All alumni and friends are invited to attend the dinner.

Catholics Honor Russian Icon

San Francisco — (NC)—The Holy Icon of Our Lady of Kazan, perhaps the most venerated of all Russian icons, will be enshrined in a Catholic church here April 12 and 13 in a display of Catholic - Orthodox ecumenism.

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco will lead the procession accompanying the 17th century icon into St. Boniface church and will preside at a Divine Liturgy (Mass) in the Byzantine Rite and preach the sermon.

From San Francisco the icon will be taken to the New York World's Fair where it will be exhibited in a replica of the historic Fort Ross Russian Orthodox chapel, first chapel built by the Russians on their migration from Alaska to California.

HOLY CROSS ALUMNI will hold a dinner April 15 at 6:15 p.m. at the University Club. Very Rev. Raymond Swords, S.J., university president will be guest of honor and speaker. Discussing plans from left are Louis Tasciotti, arrangements; Frank Riedman Jr., club president; Donald Karal, chairman, and Lawrence J. Oberiles, vice president.

New Free Schools in Peru

Lima —(RNS)— Major steps by Peruvian Catholic prelates to bring tuition-free education to the nation's needy children are under way here and in Cuzco.

Forty-two private Catholic schools in the Lima archdiocese —all of which must charge at least a nominal tuition to operate—will perform double-duty under a program developed by Juan Cardinal Landazuri Ricketts.

The schools will have double sessions; the normal hours will be devoted to the instruction of tuition-paying pupils, and the late afternoon and early evening hours will be allocated to free education for poor children.

Some 20,000 children will benefit at the outset, according to Cardinal Landazuri's announcement.

In Cuzco, meanwhile, the first tuition-free Catholic school in Peru to be staffed by a team of teachers of several religious congregations will be opened by Archbishop Carlos Jurgens, C.SS.R.

Archbishop Jurgens, a 62-year-old leader of social reforms, was the first bishop to inaugurate agrarian reform on Church-owned lands in 1961. His initiative in staffing a school entirely through the cooperation of a number of religious orders is expected to have far-reaching results throughout Peru.

The school has been named San Martin de Porres, in honor of the recently canonized Peruvian saint. It will care for the poorest children of Cuzco, descendants of the famed Inca who were subjugated by the early Spanish explorers and settlers.

Dominican missionary nuns from Spain and Carmelite nuns will provide the bulk of the teaching staff. Other teachers will be provided by the Peruvian Conference of Women Religious.

Teachers' salaries will be paid by the Peruvian Ministry of Education. The school will begin with an enrollment of 300 and gradual expansion is planned to some 800.

In Lima, meanwhile, Cardinal Landazuri's double-session schools will provide tuition-free education for children newly arrived from mountain areas. Many of them speak only a smattering of Spanish and know only the Indian languages, Quechua and Aymara. Many work as servants in private homes.

Recently released statistics reveal that in 1963, 150,000 children attended Catholic-administered schools on a full-time basis. About 56,000 of these attended schools which were either entirely free or charged a very low tuition. The highest priced Catholic high school in Peru charges $15 a month.

TV Masses Said Beneficial

New Orleans —(NC)— Father C.J. McNaspy, S.J. associate editor of the Jesuit weekly America, said he does not believe that the televising of Mass detracts from the solemnity of the action—and that it is certainly better than no presence at all.

Writing in Airtime magazine, published by the Catholic Broadcasters Association here, Father McNaspy said the televising of the funeral of Pope John XXIII and President Kennedy gave examples of the great service TV can provide. While it is true the "peering eye of the TV camera may offend against human decency," he said, "the gain seems altogether out of proportion.
