GOOD HABITS

It's wonderful the way people tell us that they look forward to the Courier. Each week brings them the news that vitally concerns them as Catholics. We've been complimented—we've even been disagreed with at times but then that's a sign of good vigorous health. The Catholic view point and the Catholic news are eagerly awaited. It's a good habit.

We're proud too, that we have such strong acceptance among our readers. Their loyalty to our advertisers is an oft-repeated action. Over 50% of our readers have told us that they prefer doing business with Courier advertisers. Some even exclude non advertisers completely in their shopping. It's a good habit.

A store and product preference sheet indicates that in food they really follow the Courier. Advertisers outstrip non advertisers by as much as 16% in their reader response. And contrary to any other indications 60% of our readers do their shopping on Friday and Saturday. It's a good habit.

How are your good habits? Read and heed the Courier as a Catholic you need it, as a business we need you. Let's work together. It's a good habit.
