

CFM Convention Slated In Albany

Members of the Rochester Federation of the Christian Family Movement (CFM) will take part in the organization's third Area IV convention Aug. 21-23 at the College of St. Rose in Albany.

Beginning Friday evening, Aug. 21, and ending Sunday, Aug. 23, more than 400 couples from 15 dioceses in the Rochester Diocese will participate in the various panels, seminars and workshops.

Open House For Basilians This Sunday

The Basilian House of Studies, 30 Fairport Rd., will open its doors to the public of the Rochester Diocese this Sunday, April 26 from 2 to 5 p.m. The cloister will be open as well as the chapel and recreational facilities so that the public may see where Basilians scholastics live, work and pray.

The sixteen-year-old parish-centered organization with headquarters in Chicago, is the largest apostolic movement of husbands and wives in the U.S. Each CFM group is composed of from four to six couples who meet bimonthly in each other's homes.

Members attempt to become more aware of family, church and community problems. Through discussion of a particular subject is followed by group action.

CFM groups throughout the nation this year examined the parish as the center of worship and formation of apostolic spirit. Scripture-Liturgy portions of each meeting were devoted to a study of marriage and other sacraments. Next year's program will center on grace and politics, theme of the Area IV convention.

Local Thespians Join In Bard's Birthday

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

Perhaps the works of William Shakespeare are quoted from the pulpit more than any other source outside of Holy Scripture itself. And over the speaker's table, it cannot be contested that the Bard of Avon, not the Greeks, had a word for it.

Today the world celebrates the 400th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare in Stratford-on-Avon, England. That he was the world's greatest playwright is undisputed, and libraries have been filled with writings about his works.

THIS WEEKEND, Nazareth and Fisher colleges, as part of a Shakespeare Festival, will present a tribute to the playwright and his times, entitled "Dumb Shows and Noise." Queen Elizabeth and her court will view the "Dance of Death," "Noah's Deluge," "The Seven Deadly Sins," Morris dancing and many other entertainments of Shakespeare's period.

On Saturday evening at 8, the curtain will rise at Nazareth Academy for Blackfriars production of "The Taming of the Shrew." Under the direction of Wilford Scott, a large cast for the famed comedy is headed by Lionel Croft as Petruchio and Barbara Neely as Katharina. Set designs were designed by Carl Zollo, and costumes by Richard Mancini. Nancy Belanger is producer and Russell Scribner stage manager.

This is the final presentation of the Shakespeare comedy which has been performed at Our Lady of Mercy High School and Notre Dame High School, Elmira. Tickets may be purchased from students or at the door.

IN ENGLAND this week, the British post office broke with tradition and placed Shakespeare's picture alongside Queen Elizabeth's on a series of commemorative stamps. Previously, illustrations on stamps were restricted to royalty.

The influence of Shakespeare is perhaps epitomized in an NBC "special" this Sunday (WROC-TV at 10 p.m.) in which films of the places associated with his life and plays are featured. It is called "Shakespeare: Soul of an Age."

A monument in Stratford accuses Shakespeare of having died a "papist" — whatever that was, the religious aspects of his work and their catholicity cannot be denied.

There are 400 "brief candles" on Will Shakespeare's birthday cake and an eternity of tribute.

Charity Ladies Set Breakfast

Ladies of Charity First Saturday Communion-Breakfast will be held on May 2 at St. Peter and Paul's parish hall, Elmira at 9 a.m.

The breakfast will be served by members of the Immaculate Heart Society of St. Peter and Paul's. A short program will include a speaker.

THE BREAKFAST is open to area women. It is presumed each person attending will have fulfilled the spiritual obligations of the First Saturday by attending Mass and receiving Holy Communion.

The 9 a.m. Mass at St. Peter and Paul's will be followed by First Saturday Devotions. However, those attending may find it more convenient to participate in another parish Mass.

Arrangements are being made by the Mother Cabrini Committee of the Ladies of Charity. Reservations are requested and may be made by telephoning Mrs. John P. DeLaney, 734-8285, or the Ladies of Charity Office, 732-7197.

Appointment of Auxiliary Bishop Francis J. Spellman of Boston by Pope Pius XII to become Archbishop of New York was acclaimed in this diocese. Bishop Kearney in a statement said the appointment meets "with universal approval."

Six hundred diocesan Holy Name Men convening at the N.Y. Union convention in Hornell pledged support to the Bishop's campaign against indecent literature.

Claim of the Medical Bureau and North American Committee to aid Spanish Democracy that Father Lobo was a Spanish priest "in good standing" was disproved at a meeting of diocesan authorities in the Chancery at which he admitted to being a suspended priest.

NAS Mass Draws 500

The Nocturnal Adoration Society of greater Elmira held its 32nd anniversary Holy Communion breakfast Sunday, April 19, at Notre Dame High School. Five hundred attended.

Holy Mass was offered by the National Director of the Nocturnal Adoration Society, Rev. Hector Lemieux, S.S.S., at 8 a.m. in the auditorium, and breakfast was served about 9 a.m. in the gymnasium.

"HIGH SCHOOL Nocturnal adoration are very rare," commented Fr. Lemieux in his talk at the breakfast. "In fact, there are only three centers in the United States, one of which is here in Elmira. Therefore, I give you many, many congratulations." The other two centers are in Wayne and South Amboy, New Jersey.

At the breakfast, each member was presented with an annual report showing that the unit of greater Elmira, with a membership of 499, completed 3412 Holy Hours in 1963.

Rev. Joseph Reinhart, spiritual director of the high school division of the Nocturnal Adoration Society of Notre Dame, moderator of the Society, worked diligently with the co-chairmen, John Bazyk and Michael Stoddard, both Seniors, to make this large project the
