

Progress In Human Rights Encouraging — But Uneven

(Notes from keynote address of James Egan at New York State Conference on Human Rights, Rochester, May 4, 1964.)
It's easier for a Negro to become a Ph.D. than a plumber in New York City said the Vice-President of the National Conference of Christians and Jews in his keynote address to the New York State Conference on Human Rights held in Rochester last Monday.

Dr. James Egan made this point in stressing that the progress noted in human rights is encouraging, but uneven.

(Dr. Egan is well-known to many Rochester graduates of the College of St. Rochelle, where he taught for ten years.)

His speech, "A Community Audit in Human Relations," dealt with a number of key areas which he felt needed checking in every community. Among other salient points made by the speaker were:

IN EDUCATION: Administrators should assess the human relations attitudes of their teachers. Teacher-training is now beginning to come with this need.

Parents' groups: "Could do great work by analyzing the roots of prejudice in their meetings."

Mass media: "Are they giving an accurate account of progress being made in race relations, or only stressing the spectacular incidents that occur?"

Housing: "Too many people are giving lip-service to open housing, and then getting angry when they hear of a Negro family moving onto their street."

Employment practices: "Need some objective study. Some companies hire a single Negro woman, display her at a reception desk and then proclaim 'we've got an integrated staff here!'"

Dr. Egan felt that there is tremendous amount of good-will being shown in most communities, but it is too often poorly organized. Techniques are needed to get people actually involved in solving definite problems in their own areas.

"Volunteers are needed—in large numbers, but professional is human relations are needed too to help harness all the good-will in positive directions," he concluded.

The two-day conference was sponsored by the Webster Council on Human Relations.

Breaking the Commandments is laws, but virtue never makes headlines. Juvenile delinquents are "good boys" who know about good young men, such as this public-school student who writes:
"Enclosed please find a money-order for $22 which I want to donate to the Holy Father's Society for the Propagation of the Faith. I didn't earn this myself, but I formed a mission club called The Laymen's Missionary Society. It's a teenager in public school, but I want to share my Faith with all my non-Catholic friends. I also want to help the missionaries there it was a poor, because I believe the 'poor-rich Church' of America is keeping the redemption of our race to itself. Our mission club is small, consisting of 20 members from the ages of 12 to 18. They are high school students, so don't think you are fighting alone."

"My dear Bishop, the reason I am telling you about our mission club is because I would like to order 16 World Mission Rosaries. We are going to start saying the Rosary for the Missions at our meetings. To give you a glimpse of our enthusiasm, let me tell you about our last session. I started it with a talk which I assembled from reading MISSION magazine. Then we were instructed in Christian doctrine by our parish priest. We have decided to meet twice a month for the mission society, followed by instruction. There were 25 people at this meeting, and if we get a few more members, we will ask our pastor to let us make this a parish society."

"My dear Bishop, pray for us so we will become like lambs, so we will shed some of our wool for the poor! And please tell the Holy Father to use all the money you give him quickly, because I can't wait for the poor pagans to meet our Divine Savior. I'll never stop praying for the Missions!"

GOD LOVE YOU TO ANX. For $7.75 "At the suggestion of my confessor, I decided to do 'good works' for the world." I decided to do this for serving a wedding. I decided this was a good time for a teenager to do something useful with his money... to C.S. for $10. Through the past three years, while I have been in nurse's training school, I have made all kinds of excuses for not sending you an offering. I am now sending you a day's wages from my extra job at the supermarket. It is in gratitude to Our Lord and Our Lady for helping me complete my course and begging their help in this blessed calling."

We are not only asking for your sacrifices, but for your prayers too. Send your request and an offering of $2 for the WORLD MISSION ROSARY, and we will send you three multi-colored beads blessed by Bishop Sheen. Each time you say the WORLD MISSION ROSARY you will remember to put aside a daily sacrifice for the Holy Father.

Cut out this column, pin your sacrifice to it and mail it to Most Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, National Director of The Society for the Propagation of the Faith, 366 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10001, or your Diocesan Director, Rev. John F. Duffy, 10 Chestnut St., Rochester, N.Y. 14604.
