Multi-Purpose Building Includes New Cafeteria

Horseheads—Twenty-four hundred square feet of St. Mary's new school addition in Horseheads is another example of multi-purpose architecture in engineering in modern parochial schools. This space is equally adequate as two classrooms, or a 300 capacity auditorium, or a cafeteria as shown in the accompanying picture.

Eighty-five per cent. of St. Mary's near 400 enrollment are bus pupils. Since they are unable to go home to lunch, a meal is served to them at noon time. About 315 youngsters participate daily in this State-subsidized lunch program.

Mrs. Raymond Schultz is the full-time manager of the program; she is assisted by 3 full-time co-workers, Mrs. John Kopko, Mrs. James Quinn, Mrs. Cornelius Ryan who help in cooking, planning and supervision. Daily about 8 other volunteer workers assist in the lunch program. Mrs. Howard Randall is permanently in charge of the dish detail.

THE NOMINAL cost of lunch (and there is a family plan) at St. Mary's is possible through the generous donation of time and effort on the part of concerned State, All and Federal Surplus food are a further help in making it possible to serve a p p t i n g and nutritious lunches. Furthermore, the Rev. Francis J. Reilly, pastor of St. Mary's states that the cafeteria which has been in operation since September is being maintained with no expense to the parish other than initial costs for equipment.

The educational value of the program is hard to measure adequately but the response of the pupils and parents indicate a whole-hearted acceptance of the program. State requirements are met through conscientious observance of food handling suggestions and laws.

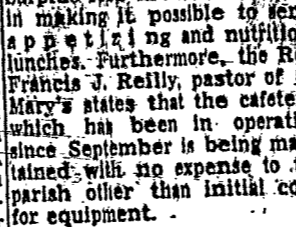

Events Reported In Mt. Morris

Mt. Morris—The 52nd graduating class of St. Patrick's School has elected officers: John Andolina is president; Daniel Ruffo, vice president; Deborah Esposito, treasurer; and Josephine Palermo, secretary. The class will graduate in June. The first class graduated in 1912.

Mt. Morris—The first Holy Communion Class will receive Communion at a special 9 a.m. Mass at St. Patrick's Church Saturday morning, May 16, according to the Rev. Dominic J. Grasso, pastor. The Sisters of St. Joseph have been instructing the class at St. Patrick's School for the past several weeks preparing the children for this holy event.

(At Marine Midland we call him "Henry")

In this age of electronic bank bookkeeping, there could be a tendency to become impersonal about customers . . . but NOT AT MARINE MIDLAND. Our customers are our friends . . . flesh and blood people with names, faces, needs. Of course, we give "Henry" account (and yours) a number; to the marvelous new electronic equipment can handle the bookkeeping faster and more efficiently. But "Henry" is a real live person to us, and we always greet him cordially.

If you need a regular Marine Midland customer, we invite you to stop in this week and talk over your financial needs. You'll find we are interested in giving you prompt courteous attention, and will provide you with complete modern banking service.
