Ehmanns Prepare For Trip To Colombia.

Ehmann Couple Off To Colombia

Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Ehmann left Rochester on June 19 for Paterson, N.J., where they will join A.I.D. (The Association for International Development). They will undergo a 15 week training program there which includes the 3rd annual Institute for International Service at Seton Hall University, before their ultimate assignment at Universidad Javeriana in Bogota, Colombia.

Ehmann, 30, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence V. Ehmann of Mt. Read Blvd. in Rochester, has been a member of Holy Family Parish where he attended grade school. After graduating from Aquinas Institute, he attended St. Michael's College in the University of Toronto, receiving his degree in Philosophy in 1954.

AFTER TWO YEARS of military service in Germany, he returned to Rochester where he received an M.A. in Education from the University of Rochester in 1959. He taught German and Mathematics at Rush-Henrietta Central 1959-1960, when he received an NDEA foreign language fellowship to study Russian language and Literature at Fordham University.

Receiving his M.A. there in 1962, he continued toward a Ph.D. in Russian Language and Linguistics at Toronto. He has completed all of the formal requirements for the degree except for his thesis in the field of Russian Linguistics. He hopes to be able to advance his work toward completion of his thesis in the corse of his three year assignment.

Eighty-five per cent of A.I.D.'s members are married and both husband and wife become active A.I.D. participants. Both husband and wife are screened by A.I.D. before acceptance.

Ehmann's wife, Judy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hirn of Batesville, Indiana, is a graduate of Marian College in Indianapolis and has taught secondary school mathematics in both Cincinnati, Ohio and New York City.

It was while she was in New York doing graduate studies at Fordham University that the Ehmann's were married in August 1961. They have a daughter Teresa Rose, 21 months and a son Charles Marvin, 9 months.

In A.I.D. families, both husband and wife become active members. The husband works in his profession and becomes active in professional circles emphasizing Christian social and economic principles. He also works with other local professional groups.

The couple works as a family unit working with the Christian Family Movement and working with civic organizations. The home is an important vehicle in the lay apostolate.

Gerald Mische, the co-founder and first national director of A.I.D., said in a recent interview: "The impact of competent lay people leaving the security and affluence of American society to apply Christian social teachings in other countries is very strong. They cannot write off such a family as they could the example of priests or religious whom they expect to dedicate their lives to Christ and their fellow men." The wife works with local women's grops to stimulate initiative there as well.

In its overseas service, A.I.D. attempts to penetrate key social structures: education, communication, government, trade unions etc., in which the key decisions are being made within the next 5 years which will determine the future of these countries.

A.I.D. IS AN organization of men and women who are willing to devote their services and their lives to the crucial task of Christianizing society. They get special training for this job at the A.I.D. center. They are then assigned to serve in those parts of the world where their special competence is needed.

A.I.D. members must concern themselves with three things; professional competence; personal spiritual formation; and leadership training of others.

Mische and the Ehmann's met with Bishop Casey recently to discuss future programming in the Rochester diocese, stressing primarily leadership formation among the many foreign students studying in the diocese, most of them studying at secular universities.

These people, who will return in positions of influence in their native countries, often return with anti-American and anti-Christian attitudes because of bad experiences and bad contacts due to a lack of communication during their stay here.

Future efforts will be made to work with and tie in with local efforts in this urgent field, and the foundations will be laid to tie local efforts to the efforts of A.I.D. people working overseas.

A.I.D. is a non-profit organization depending wholly upon donations of time, money, and materials by individuals and organizations. Many A.I.D. families are "adopted" by local Catholic organizations which underwrite the expense of training and travel of families to their overseas assignment. Donations may be channeled through Rev. John F. Duffy at the Diocesan office of the Propagation of the Faith.
