

At Our House

A Day's Outing

By MARY TIMLEY DALY

A summer highlight at our house... the FAMILY FROLIC put on by the Press Club...

Torrid temperatures, blistering sun, four hours on your feet... upset tummies, sticky hands...

HONESTLY, during the 10 years the Club has put on this performance... the Family Frolic grows in popularity...

INCLUDED also were: an exhibition of jiu jitsu and kate... sports demonstrations from fly casting to tennis...

Also among the non-wins this year, as usual, were our 10 for the assignment of prizes...

This matters not at all. Everybody had a good time - an excellent get-together for any organization...

"We'll get in the hot dog line first - let's take two, that'll hold us while we're lining up for the fire engine...

"Yeah, then for the popsicles and cotton candy and peanuts - you can put the peanuts in your pocket - and we'll go for the pony ride."

"No, the train!" "The stripe ride, that's for me," said Sean.

The day, quite evidently, went off with its usual flair according to the sticky, numbed and exhilarated gang that arrived at our house to pick up the babies.

"Grandma, I ate four hot dogs and I would-a got another but Daddy took it away from me."

Ed, 10,000 hot dogs, complete with mustard and relish was on the menu, a veritable Niagara Falls of candy, plus peanuts, cotton candy, potato chips and popsicles - "All you can eat and nobody went home hungry..."

"And, Grandma, they had airplanes for big kids and air planes for little kids and..."

"There was a milk wagon with a horse pulling it! Just like the ones you used to ride on."

"No, Nylons!" "You're not old-fashioned, honey, you're just a normal healthy twelve year old girl with good taste in dress..."

Dear "No Nylons": I am twelve years old and considered "old fashioned." My friends think I'm wrong not to shave my legs. They say I look funny with knee length chinos...

Dear "Just Fed Up": It used to be a habit of mine, when giving something away, to say "You can have it, I don't want it!" I was dumfounded when a good friend of mine told me that I was not practicing real charity because it wasn't costing me anything...

Dear Miss Young: However, as one woman to another, why not suggest to your husband that when he feels your friends are able, wouldn't it be kind, even wise, to allow them to practice a little charity too and invite your family to their house once in awhile...

Dear Loretta: I am twelve years old and considered "old fashioned." My friends think I'm wrong not to shave my legs. They say I look funny with knee length chinos...

Vatican Pavilion Offers Souvenir Stamp Sheets

In connection with the Vatican Pavilion at New York World's Fair, three special official souvenir sheets are being issued...

Sheet A reproduces, against a background showing the Vatican Pavilion, Vatican stamps denoting the Pope who have reigned since the Vatican first became a sovereign state in 1929...

Sheet B reproduces, against a background illustrating Michelangelo's Pieta, stamps showing the cathedrals of the Vatican: Aerial View of the Vatican, St. Peter's Square, Dome of St. Peter's, Cathedral of St. Peter's...

Sheet C reproduces, against a background of the Vatican Pavilion, stamps illustrating famous paintings as well as other subjects: "Archangel Raphael and Young Tobias" by Botticelli (cataloging over $200 and one of the rarest Vatican stamps)...

These sheets will be available at the Vatican Pavilion, at the New York World's Fair, as well as by mail.

For further information write to: Fair Philatelic Agency, Box 84, 120th St., New York 11380.

Prelate Plans Mission Tour

Boston - (NC) - Cardinal Cushing of Boston announced he will visit three South American countries during August - Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia.

THE CARDINAL said he will visit with the 125 missionaries of the Society of St. James which he founded to aid the Latin American missions in 1958. The missionaries are stationed in the three countries.

"I cannot speak the language of the people," the Cardinal said, "but I know from experience that the greatest language anyone can speak is the language of the heart. People learn very quickly to understand among the South American people."

The Cardinal said he also is donating a great motor bus to be used by Spanish-speaking people in Boston so they can take their children on outings.

Those taking the course are supplied with a five-ton truck and trailer, truck-station wagon, three tents and laboratory equipment. The mobile unit, the CU Institute for the Study of Natural Species will serve as classroom, home, church and laboratory for six students and their director, Dr. Arnett, authority on beetles.

Going along for the ride, not for academic credit, will be Mrs. Arnett and six of the eight Arnett children.

The class carries its own chaplain, Father Joseph Piscitelli, O.S.F.S. of Allentown, Pa., a student.

Dear Loretta Young

Dear Miss Young: My husband, if a convert of a few years and is on the CCD Executive Board. He believes we must help to save souls. A man he works with was on the verge of a divorce and my husband was instrumental in bringing the family of four back together. They belong to another parish but to be sure that they keep up their religious practice my husband goes after them every Sunday morning for Mass at our church. After Mass, they always stop at our house for dinner and supper.

Our family consists of five children and two adults with one paycheck. This has been going on for two years and lately it has been getting worse. When I ask him where it will be our turn to be fed, he tells me that they cannot accommodate such a large family and that I am actually getting the better of the whole situation. I'd like to know just how far charity goes when you deprive your own of the necessities they need.

"Just Fed Up" Dear "Just Fed Up": It used to be a habit of mine, when giving something away, to say "You can have it, I don't want it!" I was dumfounded when a good friend of mine told me that I was not practicing real charity because it wasn't costing me anything. From what you tell me, you and your husband are practicing charity in its finest form, selflessly giving until it hurts. God will bless you and yours one hundred fold for this. Remember He promised that.
