Hello, Dolly!

Like a well-meaning but persistent mother-in-law, that mechanical brainchild of Mr. Alexander Graham Bell can sometimes prove a supreme nuisance in the home.

Here we don't mean "second numbers," excusable enough, particularly these days with us to remember. Nor, even, evening calls from friends or acquaintances who call their party to phone with a "Howdy do, Honey!" We just mean talking about you and Jack and old times. Remember? Yes, all those were the times!

We are talking now about one of the telephone's at a calling medium, the invasion of privacy and the poor taste of some of these readers of miscellany.

Is this selling technique more prevalent in the summer, or does it just seem so?

At any rate, scarcely a day passes that we are not called down from the attic up from the backyard away from the dining table to answer one of these sugary voices (they are almost always female, soft and soothing):

"Good evening, Mr. Dolly! When we hear this magnificent voice we suspect she is reading from a list—probably the telephone book. Suspicion grows stronger when we are addressed as "Mrs. Tennyson," since we live on Tennyson Street.

"In Helen Evans" (or what ever) we hear "How are you?" when a pause. We wrack our brains to place the caller. A friend? Friend of a friend? Mother of one of our children? Friends? Co-committee worker? Old classmates whose marriage names escaped us?

At this stage, bluffing we spar for time, respond "Good evening, Mrs. Evans," tell her we are fine, thank you, and wait.

STRAIGHTFORWARD sales pitch seldom comes hurtling at once. We are buttered up with a cooing, "How warm it is this evening," then the philosophical whining that "we really should complain, though, shouldn't we?"

We should not, we agreed at once, though we don't remember complaining at least not to Mrs. Evans.

After a gentle pat: "I know Mrs. Dolly, that you will care for your dear ones,?"

"First time this happened, we thought, heavens, one of these

"The Holy Father's Mission Aid Society... they are always people nobody wants," she says. "Charitable and devoted, SISTER BERNICE doesn't ask for anything. But you know she's worried. There are food bills, every day, clothing bills, medical bills, and to mention the need for new equipment... She needs 34 cents for the crippled children, she tells you finally, -cents high off the floor so that the crippled children won't feel cut off from the world about them. The cats will cost $10 each - $1,700 altogether. The 34 mattresses will cost $10 each... She needs help, too. (It, $2, $3) to pay for food, clothing, medical... Will you give SISTER BERNICE a hand? You'll be helping to the care of people nobody wants in the Holy Land.

Another SISTER BERNICE? AMERICAN SISTERS 'OUTLIVE' the average American woman by six years, according to a doctor in New Orleans. Moreover they are America's "hard-working, best educated, feminine group," he said. "The same is true, we suspect, of our native Sisters overseas... We need thousands of native Sisters in our 18-country mission world to do what Sister Bernice is doing in Jerusalem. To train them, we need your help. For about $12.50 a month ($150 a year, $600 for the overall two-year course) you can "adopt" Sister Antonia Hoyek, in Lebanon, or Sister Mary Thomas Regis, in India. Simply write to us now.

WHAT ON EARTH...? SPEAKING simply, we ask you to help the millions in 18 countries in which Catholics are only a handful—INDIA, for instance; IRAQ, IRAN, EGYPT, JORDAN, KENTRUE. As the "Holy Father's Mission Aid Society for the Oriental Church" we help wherever the Holy Father says it's needed.

WHERE IT'S NEEDED
$1—One day's support for a priest in INDIA
$3—Shoes for a blind boy in the GAZA STRIP
$5—Clothing for a deaf-mute boy in LEBANON
$10—Support a seminarian for a month in IRAN
$100—One year's medical care for a leper in JORDAN
