

Pope Tells Spaniards

Use 'Dialogue' in Unity Search

Leon, Spain.—(RNS)—Pope Paul VI, in a broadcast to the sixth National Eucharistic Congress here, called on Spaniards to use the "mechanism of dialogue" for an "interchange of ideas" in search of unity and truth.

Speaking in Spanish, the Pope noted that the congress' theme was, "They All May Be One," and emphasized that unity was the desire of Christ "which His disciples must bring about by their constant efforts."

Christ, "by His death," the Pope said, "broke down every dividing wall so that hence forward there would be neither Jew nor Greek."

The "true Christian," he said, seeks this "mystery of unification" not only in religion but in human society. He is ready to see in society, the pontiff stated, "as a sign of the times, the movement towards certain expressions of unity acting like a leaven in the minds and upon the knowledge and action of people with a desire to do better and achieve a higher conquest."

Asserting that "to live in room for divergence of opinion, Christ does not mean to blunt itself up in a house of glass," Pope Paul continued: "The world viewed in the light of the Gospel always offers things that are rich, profound horizons lacking in all and affairs that can be brought again to the original design of unity ordained by God."

In the dialogue movement, the Pope said, "there will be change of ideas in the search of the truth in its richness."
