Golden Jubilee Noted

Retreat Center Drive Readied

Bishop Kearney will mark the golden jubilee of the laymen's retreat movement in the Rochester Diocese by launching a campaign for a permanent retreat center at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 1, in Blessed Sacrament School Hall.

Nearly 200 men from parish retreat leagues throughout the 12-county Diocese will attend. It will be the special gifts committee kickoff in a drive among retreatants for a minimum of $500,000.

Funds are being sought for construction of a new Notre Dame Retreat Center overlooking Canandaigua Lake, to replace facilities at 246 Alexander St., Rochester.

It was in the Summer of 1914 that a group of laymen gathered at St. Bernard's Seminary for the first weekend retreat. These were continued at the seminary on a once-yearly schedule through 1941, being conducted by diocesan and by visiting priests.

Aimed at broadening participation, the conduct of retreats was given to the Redemptorist Fathers with the opening of a house on Geneva Lake in 1942. The Lochland Road house, which could be operated only during mild weather, provided for 50 retreatants.

Still further expansion was undertaken in 1950 with the transfer to the present Alexander Street building, which allowed for retreats throughout the year. The Rochester house serves a capacity of 100 retreatants.

During the last few years, the century-old structure has developed limitations, particularly in possibility for expansion. At times some of the retreatants have had to be housed in nearby apartment buildings. The relatively small plot is surrounded by Genesee Hospital, by commercial and medical buildings, and by residences.

Negotiations are nearly completed for sale of the property to the hospital, which will raze the building and use the area for parking purposes.

THE NEW retreat center, to be erected on a 55-acre site in West Lake Road, Canandaigua, will provide for 156 retreatants.

A review of figures shows the growth of the retreat movement in its 50-year history.

During the 28 years of once-yearly retreats at the seminary, the number of annual retreatants ranged from 80 to 200 men. This number was tripled during the eight-year period at Geneva, totaling 626 retreatants in 1950. At Alexander Street the total rose to 3,400 for 1963 — an increase of nearly 450% in the last 14 years.

In a projection over the next few years, it is estimated that the present number can be doubled to a total of more than 7,000 yearly. This is based on the greater capacity and desirability of the proposed new center, the increasing realization of the value of closed retreats, the promotion of midweek and couples' retreats, and the growing ease of transportation.

The laymen's retreat movement in the United States began about 70 years ago. What was then a little-known and appreciated religious exercise practiced by a small number of Catholic men has grown until currently there are more than 350,000 men in 150 retreat houses in all parts of the nation who draw apart from their families, their work and their pleasures for 40 hours of prayer and meditation.

In any history of the movement, the story of the men of the Rochester Diocese comprises an impressive chapter. They now are being asked to add a new phase — construction of a permanent retreat center.

FATHER ANTHONY GIUDICE

Father Anthony Giudice, First Capuchin Chaplain

Father Anthony Giudice, Geneva, who joined the 27th Armored Division, New York Army National Guard last January, is now on 2 weeks annual field training at Camp Drum, N.Y.

CHAPLAIN GIUDICE or Father Anthony as he is called by the troops, is a member of the Franciscan Order of Capuchins and is the first of his Order to join the National Guard.

Born in New York's Harlem 33 years ago and ordained in Richmond, Virginia, in 1954, Father Anthony moved to Geneva, where he is currently teaching Church History and Sacred Music in the Theology Department of Immaculate Heart Seminary.

In an interview, Father Anthony was asked what made him decide to join the National Guard. "Well," he said, "a friend of mine who was a member of the National Guard approached me one day and asked me to join because there was a severe shortage of chaplains. I felt I wanted to do a service for my country and to the Franciscan Order."

Do you find it hard making the adjustment from life in the Order to Army life? "Our order traditionally wears the Franciscan brown habit, sandals and beards. And frankly, an Army uniform is rather difficult to get used to. However, I really don't mind the change. I knew of course that I would have to shave off my beard (although I was never ordered to) because beards are not allowed in the Army."

Father Anthony is chaplain for the 2nd Brigade, and is attached to Headquarters Company.

New Members To Be Greeted

Guest speaker will be the Rev. Bartholomew J. O'Brien, pastor.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. George Bragg and her committee: Mrs. Julia Richards, Mrs. Mary Wallit and Miss Frances Fitzgerald.

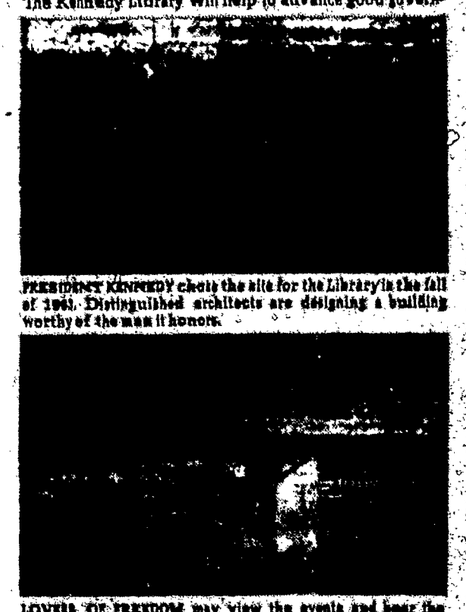
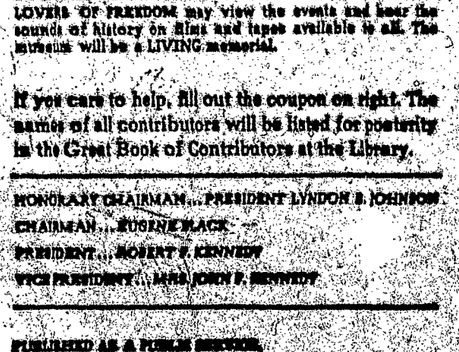
HOW YOU CAN HELP TO BUILD THE JOHN F. KENNEDY LIBRARY

Millions of Americans have been looking for a fitting and constructive way to honor the memory of John Fitzgerald Kennedy. Now at last there is such a way. You can show your esteem for our late president—and preserve a part of our nation's heritage—by giving to the John F. Kennedy Library in Boston.

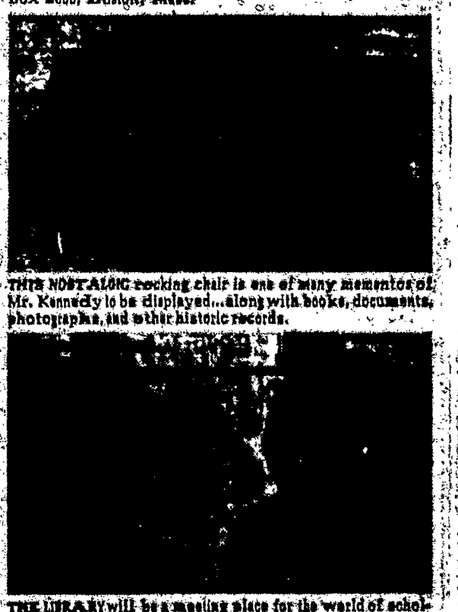
The Kennedy Library will help to advance good government here and promote freedom throughout the world. When finished, it will belong to the American People, just as the Hoover, Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower libraries do. Traditionally, however, such libraries are built by private contributions. If you care to give, send your gift with the coupon below to Kennedy Library, Box 2800, Boston, Mass.



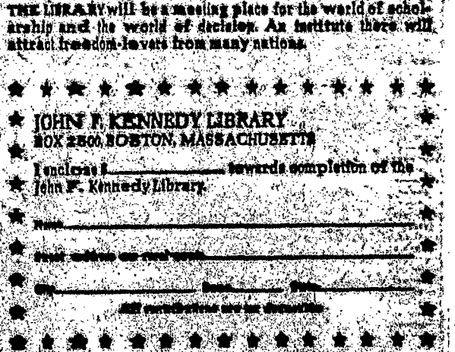
PRESIDENT KENNEDY chose the site for the Library in the fall of 1963. Distinguished architects are designing a building worthy of the man it honors.



LOVERS OF FREEDOM may view the events and hear the sounds of history on films and tapes available in all. The museum will be a LIVING memorial.



THIS NOSTALGIC rocking chair is one of many mementos of Mr. Kennedy to be displayed...along with books, documents, photographs, and other historic records.



THE LIBRARY will be a meeting place for the world of scholarship and the world of decision. An institute there will attract freedom-lovers from many nations.

If you care to help, fill out the coupon on right. The names of all contributors will be listed for posterity in the Great Book of Contributors at the Library.
