Junior Skips Year, Enters Notre Dame U.

John J. Hall, who completed his junior year at Notre Dame High School, Elmira, last June, has bypassed his last year of secondary education to enter Notre Dame University as a freshman this fall.

Most of the larger colleges and universities will accept a student from his junior year, provided that he has amassed the required number of credits and shows scholastic ability. Hall was advised by several college instructors to enter college this year instead of finishing high school.

Hall, who resides at 105 Durland Ave., Elmira, was recently named a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship program for his outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test given last March. He is one of two seminarians in Cheungung the last two summers in advance County.

The 16-year-old Hall has spent math classes at Assumption Preparatory School in Worcester, Mass. He studied introduction to analysis, number theory, and modern algebra in the six-week program this year. He has also taken two years of calculus in an evening course sponsored by Corning Community College.

Hall's brother Jerome, a junior at Notre Dame High, also participated in the program at Assumption this summer.

Sister M. Carmella, science department head at Notre Dame, expressed the views of faculty and administration at the high school.

"John is the first from our school to attempt this adventure in education, and we will look forward to excellent results. Notre Dame, Elmira wishes him the best at Notre Dame, Indiana."

Young Hall and his family are communicants of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Elmira.

25 Years Ago

Death of Cardinal George Mundelein, Archbishop of Chicago in that city saddened many in the Diocese of Rochester. Bishop Kearney who attended the funeral Mass issued a statement of mourning citing the Cardinal as the "great Apostle of Home Missions."

An imposing statue of St. Patrick over the entrance of St. Patrick's Church, Elmira was blessed by Bishop Kearney. The Bishop asked St. Patrick's blessing not only upon those who enter the church but on passers-by of all faiths. Statue was donated by Charles J. Alfred Timothy and William Mitchell.

Family Retreats Foreseen At New Lakeside Center

Expansion of the three-day retreat movement to include retreats for married couples, and eventually for families, was forecast this week as the diocesan Laymen's Retreat League marked its golden jubilee by launching a campaign for a permanent retreat center.

Bishop James E. Kearney will be principal speaker at a special gifts committee kickoff at 8 p.m. tonight (Oct. 1) in Blessed Sacrament School Hall, Rochester.

Funds will be sought during the next four weeks for construction of a new Notre Dame Retreat Center overlooking Canandaigua Lake, to replace present quarters at 246 Alexander St., Rochester. Minimum campaign goal is $500,000.

Besides facilities for married couples' retreats, the new center also provides for priests' retreats, with five permanent and 14 portable altars.

DESIGNED FOR completion late next year, the new Notre Dame Retreat House will be erected on a hill 300 feet above the lake, in West Lake Road, five miles south of Canandaigua. The 55-acre plot includes a wooded area and an orchard. It is expected that the lofty, secluded site will attract many more retreatants over the next few years.

The structure will have rooms for 156 individual retreatants—50 per cent greater capacity than the present Alexander Street building. There will be 40 double rooms and 76 single rooms, providing for a total of 78 husband-and-wife retreatants.

Focal point of the four-story building will be the chapel, in liturgical design to combine quiet dignity with simplicity. It will be entered along a promenade from the grand lounge, as well as from other points throughout the building.

Since the function of the building is to evoke spiritual meditation, the presence of the chapel will be made continually apparent from all other portions of the edifice.

THE BUILDING will take advantage both of the sloping terrain and of height. It will feature split-level characteristics, with chapel, lounge and dining room all within a half-flight up and down. There will be an elevator.

The cross-topped chapel tower, to be lit at night, will rise 370 feet above lake level and will be seen for miles in most directions. The grand lounge, and ninety per cent of retreatant rooms, which will spiral from the chapel and wind around the lounge, will have wide lake views.

Ribbon & Roberts, Rochester architects, are designing the five-story building, which will feature poured-in-place reinforced concrete for the chapel, lounge, and ninety per cent of retreatant rooms, and pre-cast concrete for the bed-rooms.

Major portions of the building include the chapel, grand lounge, retreatant rooms, priests' quarters, dining room and kitchen, library, Bishop's suite, conference rooms, administration offices, custodian quarters and a garage.

There will be no entrance on the lake side of the building, in order to preserve the slope to the lake. Entrance will be from a nearby side road, with a roadway approaching the building from the rear or west side. Some land will be landscaped much, however, will be left in its rural state.

PLANNED FOR the wooded area in the rear are outdoor Stations of the Cross, meditation walks, grottos and shrines.

The site, which is reached from Canandaigua to the north and Naples to the south, will be away from sight or sound of traffic.

The Redemptorist Fathers, who have been conducting retreats for diocesan laymen for the last 22 years, have noted an increased interest in retreats during the last decade.

They have indicated that facilities of the new Retreat Center will be used not only for weekend retreats, but also for midweek retreats for particular groups, as well as for various diocesanwide functions such as Cans Conferences, special religious observances, diocesan work shops, etc.

The Rev. Michael G. Downing, C.S.S.R., is rector of Notre Dame Retreat House. Services with him as retreat masters are the Rev. William Jamison, C.S.S.R., the Rev. William Walsh, C.S.S.R., and the Rev. John Flick, C.S.S.R.

Thousands of men throughout the Diocese who have made retreats during the last three decades will be solicited for 30 month pledges toward construction of the proposed permanent building. The advance phase of campaign begins this weekend, with the general solicitation scheduled to start Oct. 19.

First weekend closed retreat was made by nearly 100 men in the summer of 1914 at St. Bernard's Seminary. Last year a total of 3,400 individuals made closed retreats at Notre Dame Retreat House. The Alexander Street property has outlived its usefulness, and will be sold to adjoining Genesee Hospital.
