ELMA ELECTA receives a kiss of congratulations from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Spada.

Selma Nursing School Graduates First Sister

Sister Electa, S.S.J., received a double kiss of congratulations from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Spada, 169 Bidwell Terrace, Rochester on Sister's graduation after one year's training at the Good Samaritan Hospital School of Practical Nursing here.

A member of the Rochester Sisters of St. Joseph, Sister is the first member of her community to complete the one year training course at Good Samaritan. Sister also earned the highest academic average in her class.

The School is affiliated with the Good Samaritan Hospital and was founded in 1950 by Sister Lorelle Bertrand, S.S.J. Good Samaritan Hospital is sponsored by the Fathers of St. Edmund and is operated by the Sisters of St. Joseph. Sister Mary Christopher is Director of the School of Practical Nursing.

Sister Electa is the former Carol Spada of Holy Rosary Parish in Rochester. She attended Holy Rosary Elementary School and was graduated from Nazareth Academy in 1957.

She entered the Sisters of St. Joseph in the fall of '57. In high school she was active in scouting, mission work and the sodality. Sister also sang in her parish choir.

Before coming to Selma, Sister taught at St. Ann's School, Rochester, and worked as a nurse's aide at St. Mary's Hos-

Foster Homes For Senior Citizens

Senior citizens of sixty years or more who find it difficult to live alone but who are not yet ready for a nursing home or hospital bed may now seek accommodations in private family homes through a unique project called "Family Homes for the Aging."

Begun two years ago by the Council of Social Agencies (coordinating agency for health and welfare programs in city and county), the project seeks to prevent premature or inappropriate placement in other care settings, and to give the senior citizen a longer period of independence.

With the assistance of doctor, nurse and social worker, each application is processed to determine specific care needed and the home best suited in terms of location, layout, recreation and personal service to the individual.

Applicants must be aged 60 or more (younger persons in special circumstances) and not require nursing care. They must have good mental and physical health and compatibility to a home situation.

Family homes must meet standards of general good housekeeping and comfortable surroundings. Convenient room location and a willingness to render personalized services and nutritious meals are prerequisites for home owners. Any family, couple, or retiree who has these facilities may provide a family home.

Family Homes for the Aging matches needs and interests and then provides an opportunity for the applicant and prospective family to meet and share in the decision of living companions. After placement, the program's staff is available to give assistance to either party.

Project director is George Montgomery Jr. and John P. Flynn, formerly of the de Paul Clinic, is the caseworker-administrator of the agency, located at 921 Granite Building, 130 East Main St., Rochester.

The office was opened in March of this year and the first placement was made in August. So far four senior citizens have been placed and two are waiting placement. It is still a "demonstration project" seeking to find if there is a sufficient need in the local area, if such an arrangement can promote more satisfactory situations for the elderly, and if the arrangement will prove socially and economically feasible.

The project is sponsored by the Council of Homes of Rochester and Monroe County, Inc. and as has interdenominational support. It is financed by the United States Public Health Service, the Eastry Charitable Foundation and the John F. Wegman Foundation.

Each home owner will receive $125.00 monthly (or an exceptional rate of $150.00 monthly for specialized care). Each fee is adjusted to the person's ability to pay, but arrangements are made so that each home receives equal reimbursement.

Specific inquiries may be made by contacting John P. Flynn at the agency office (LO 2-7131).

McQuaid Runs Fifth In Meet

Watertown might as well have been Waterloo for McQuaid Jesuit High's cross-country varsity last Saturday. The Knights, running there for the first time in three years, had hopes of capturing the team title but wound up no better than fifth in a field of 27 schools.

Eric Kendrick, McQuaid's outstanding junior, turned in one of his top performances, however. Kendrick led the field of 275 runners for the first mile and a half but gave way to Ilion's Jack Sweeney in the closing stages and finished second.

Sophomore Mike Jaquith finished strong in 25th place as McQuaid second man, with Greg Sloan (35), Chuck Maier (45), and Paul Jones (73) completing the scoring. Their 180 points landed the Knights far behind winning Watertown, which had 90. The two rivals will go at it again in the Alfred-Almond Invitational this Saturday.

McQuaid's frosh did well in a large field at Watertown, placing six men in the top 50 of the 224-runner stampede and taking fifth place of 18 schools in the team totals. Bill Cherry (24) and Carl Fimmano (29) were the Knights' leaders.

Earlier in the week, Maier and Jaquith had led McQuaid to a 15-50 blanking of Cardinal Mooney at Cobb's Hill. Love, Jones and Steve Fahy were the other McQuaid scorers.

Rhythm Clinic Time Changed

The clinic for married couples who wish information on the rhythm method of family limitation will be held at St. Mary's Hospital each Monday p.m., a half hour later than originally scheduled.

Dr. Louis Iuppa and Rev. Paul McCabe will speak on the basic medical and moral aspects of the subject at tomorrow evening's clinic, Friday, and Dr. Paul Boden and Rev. Daniel Hogan at Monday's clinic.

The program is sponsored by the diocesan Family Life Bureau.

Third Order

Mass, sung in a spiritual style, has been held in a local church.

Robert J. Jenner, a Tertiary of St. Patrick's Fraternity, and member of Blessed Sacrament Parish, will be Cantor.

More than 100 Nazareth students, plus members of the Third Order of St. Dominic and Third Order of St. Francis will be on hand.

The Mass will be held in honor of the November 3 Feast Day of St. Martin DePorres.

Religion Alive in Russia Educator Tells Students

A noted British educator stated at St. John Fisher College Friday (Oct. 9) that there is no sign of religion withering away in the Soviet Union today, even within the Communist Party.

According to Prof. J. M. Cameron, head of the Department of Philosophy at the University of Leeds, who was a Communist intellectual before his conversion to Catholicism in 1945, sporadic efforts on the part of the Soviet government to suppress religious practices and beliefs in Russia have been unsuccessful. He added that there never has been an all-out effort to obliterate the Church in the Soviet Union.

To prove that even Communist Party officials practice religion, Prof. Cameron cited examples of reports in the Soviet press censuring party officials for having their children baptized or for participating in religious wedding ceremonies.

Prof. Cameron believes that in the long run the Communist hierarchy will have to reexamine their position vis-a-vis religion, and that it is likely they will come to terms in much the same way they will have to come to terms with the permanence of a free capitalistic system as it thrives in the Western world.

The speaker also cautioned his audience to distinguish between the theoretical position of Marxism and communism as a historical movement, noting that in his writings Pope John XXIII had pointed out undeniable facts that in some areas Soviet communism has improved the lot of the Russian peoples.

A Century of Experience

With more than a century of college teaching and administrative experience behind them, this trio look forward to the future of St. John Fisher College.

Flanking Very Reverend Charles J. Lavery, C.S.B., president of the college, are his two recently appointed special assistants for academic affairs.

Rev. E. J. McCorkell, C.S.B., began his teaching career in 1917 at St. Michael's College, Toronto. He was president of the Pontifical Institute of Mediaeval Studies at the University of Toronto from 1935 to 1961, and in addition to teaching and administrative posts at Assumption University, Windsor, Ont., and St. Thomas More College, Saskatoon, Sask., served as superior of the Basilian Fathers from 1942 to 1954.

Dr. Donald M. Tower took up his duties at Fisher after a distinguished career embracing 45 years of service in New York State public schools. Dr. Tower was president of the State University College at Brockport for 20 years prior to joining the Fisher staff.

Father Lavery, who was appointed to his post in 1958, began his teaching career at Aquinas Institute in 1940. He also held positions on the staffs of St. Michael's College, Toronto, and St. Thomas College, Houston, Tex.
