A Toast to Tax Churches

Baltimore—(RNS)—A Maryland attorney who has started court suits aimed at outlawing state and federal tax exemptions for Church properties and businesses was the central figure in ceremonies dedicating a new fountain in Baltimore as he waded into the pool and toasted the event with a paper cup. The lawyer, Leonard Kerpelman, said he believes his suits eventually will reach the U.S. Supreme Court.

French Schools Said Failing in Canada

Quebec City — (RNS) — The French-language Catholic education system in this province has not been giving French Canadians the type of training they need to cope with the 20th Century, the province's Royal Commission on Education charged here.

It called for a complete break with tradition and a thorough overhaul of the system to solve the lack of coordination which has resulted in "incoherent" structures.

The 404-page document is the second report by the commission headed by a Roman Catholic priest, Msgr. Alphonse-Marie Parent, vice-rector of Laval University.

It found the Protestant education system reasonably good, especially its facilities in the Montreal area.

Most controversial item in the report is the investigators' belief that state control of schools must be substituted for that of various religious groups.

Also urged was the revision of the Catholic system of classical colleges. The commission said it would end the requirement of a college baccalaureate degree to enter a university.

New Era Emerges In Latin America

Washington—(NC)—"Latin America is changing so rapidly into a society so different that leaders of authority do not hesitate to label it a new society," Father John J. Considine, M.M., director of the Latin American Bureau, National Catholic Welfare Conference, said here.

Father Considine spoke at the annual Pan American Mass, celebrated at St. Patrick's Church on Thanksgiving Day. Diplomats, government officials and other dignitaries attended the Mass.

Reminding his hearers that North and South America together constitute only one-eighth of the world's population, Father Considine said people and nations should have greater concern and respect for one another in "this new day of elbow-to-elbow living on our globe."

It was in Latin America that considerations of the race problem originated to give the West a clear vision of Christian social teaching on race, the Maryknoll priest said. He referred to the preaching of a Spanish friar, Padre Antonio de Montesinos, who 19 years after the discovery of America gave European consciences food for thought by defending the human dignity of the American Indian.

Social problems are more central than religious considerations in Latin America, Father Considine said. "In this new day we must rid ourselves of past notions about the Church in Latin America. She is no longer to be identified with an exclusive landed aristocracy, with bygone political oligarchies, with an oppressive status quo."

As early as 1932, he said, the bishops of Chile urged Catholics to announce the socio-economic doctrines that stem from the Gospel. He cited the 1963 statement of the Archbishop of Arequipa that a strong political action by the Church is of the utmost urgency. Also, in 1963, bishops of the 170 dioceses of Brazil called for a decisive and urgent transformation to a new social structure where the human personality will possess freedom and the means to a dignified way of life, Father Considine said.

Rules Kept On Liberty Statement

Vatican City — (RNS) — Pope Paul VI, in upholding the Council Presidency in its deferment of action on the religious liberty declaration, merely followed the rules of the Ecumenical Council.

Had he ruled in favor of the North American prelates who petitioned his endorsement of a vote, he would have by-passed long-standing Council regulations.

This was confirmed here by high ranking "progressive prelates" who had endorsed the petition circulated by three North American cardinals.

They also emphasized that the Pope had not "ordered" the postponement.

He had upheld Eugene Cardinal Tisserant and nine other members of the 12-man Council Presidency who had approved a prior petition from some 120 conservative prelates, asking more time to study the document before voting.
