

Lecturer Robert Speaight Slated at Fisher College

Robert Speaight, British author, actor, critic, and lecturer will be on the campus of St. John Fisher College on Feb. 18 and 19 as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer.

Speaight will speak on the topic "Shakespeare the Man" Thursday (Feb. 18) at 8:15 p.m. Friday morning (Feb. 19) at 10:30 he will give a poetry recital from the works of Eliot, Hopkins, Keats, Shakespeare, and other poets. Both presentations will be held in Kearney Auditorium and are open to the public.

IN TWO INFORMAL sessions with students and faculty, he will discuss "T. S. Eliot as Dramatist" and will present an illustrated commentary on Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

Speaight's published works include four novels, three biographies.

Among them are "The Legend of Helena Vaughan," "The Unbroken Heart," "George Eliot," "William Poel and the Elizabethan Revival," "Nature in Shakespearean Tragedy," "The Christian Theatre," "St. Thomas Becket," "The Life of Hilaire Belloc," "The Letters of Hilaire Belloc," and "William Ithornstein."

He was chosen to be the official biographer of Belloc and Rothstein, and is currently at work on the biography of Teilhard de Chardin. He is the regular British drama critic for the "Shakespeare Quarterly."

In the theater Speaight created the part of Hibbert in "Journey's End" and appeared in many great Shakespearean roles at London's Old Vic. He has lectured all over the world. In 1954 he gave the Christian Gauss Seminar on Poetry and Drama at Princeton University. He is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Literature.

Speaight was chosen in 1935 to originate the part of Becket in "Murder in the Cathedral." This is his most famous role, and he has since played it more than a thousand times in English and French.

POETRY READINGS from the works of T. S. Eliot, Hilaire Belloc, Thomas Merton, Gerard Manley Hopkins and others have been recorded by Speaight and are available in the United States under the Spoken Arts label.

The Danforth Visiting Lecturers project, under which Mr. Speaight comes to St. John Fisher College, is now in its eighth year.

It is sponsored jointly by the Danforth Foundation and the Association of American Colleges. Purpose of the program is "to strengthen the intellectual, the religious and the cul-

Peace Corps Test Listed

An on-campus Peace Corps placement test has been scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 13 at St. John Fisher College. The examination will be offered in room 215 St. Basil Hall at 8:30 a.m.

According to Joseph V. Verage, assistant professor of sociology and Peace Corps liaison at Fisher, a complete Peace Corps application form, obtainable at any post office, either must be submitted directly to Peace Corps headquarters in Washington, D.C. prior to the examination date or be turned in at the time the test is conducted.

Sprightly Nun Is 96 Sunday

The oldest nun in the Sisters of St. Joseph community, Sister Casilda Dangelmayr, will celebrate her 96th birthday at the Motherhouse Infirmary next Sunday, Feb. 14. Sister is in her 76th year of religious life.

Born in Germany, she received the habit of the Sisters of St. Joseph a year after her arrival in America. Among the parishes where she served are St. Joseph's in Wayland, St. Alphonsus in Auburn, St. John's in Greece and Our Lady of Perpetual Help in Rochester. She returned in 1901, but in 1911 she retired and looking forward to celebrating her birthday on St. Valentine's day.

New Rites Need Better Response

There's nothing wrong with the new English liturgy but it is still a long way from whole-hearted acceptance by many Catholics, said a Newark priest to a First Saturday luncheon group there last week.

Father James Russell, assistant pastor of St. Michael's Church in Newark, entitled his talk, "Why I Don't Like The New Liturgy," and then went on to explain that he wasn't yet satisfied with the manner in which the new changes were being carried out.

HE STATED in his talk that he had these reservations at this point about the liturgy, "because it's not doing what it's supposed to do. It's not living up to its name."

the back of the church—farthest away from the action."

In his luncheon talk to the Wayne County deanery of the Women, Father Russell actually wound up on an encouraging note.

"All this might sound pessimistic (but) the bright thing about this all is the fact that these ideas are catching; the new liturgy is working; its spirit is sinking in—slower than I'd like to see it—but really taking in the hearts and minds of a few."

Father Russell urged his hearers to provide real example and leadership in these liturgical adaptations. He said that

Knights Top Mooney Matmen

A strong McQuaid varsity wrestling team routed the first year Cardinal Mooney matmen 30-10 in Saturday night's meeting. Mooney had two matches in the winning column, Brian Siplo (123 lbs.) won by default over Reed (McQuaid) and Dan Abreu won by forfeit in the 136 lb. class.

The Mooney matmen travel to Eastridge Tuesday for a JV match and Friday go against Greece Arcadia varsity.
