Hornell Squires Receive Charter From State Head
Hornell—The Columbian Squires, sponsored by the Hornell Council of the Knights of Columbus, received their charter Sunday, Feb. 14 at a dinner party honoring member's parents.

The charter was presented by George Breitbeck of Oswego, state director of the Columbian Squires, who also gave the principal address. He explained the formation of the Squires and its guiding principle—to instill the image of Christ in each member. Kevin Doran, toastmaster, introduced Chief Squire Thomas Argenterli who accepted the charter with a brief speech of gratitude. Other officers who spoke included William Duran, Thomas Corbett, Anthony Guariglia, William Parks and Martin McLaughlin. The Rev. Gerald T. Connor, New York State chaplain of Columbian Squires, explained the rules of the organization to the 100 parents and guests at the dinner party. The Hornell group, organized in August, now has a membership of 38 boys of high school age. Its program encompasses religious, civic, educational and social activities with emphasis on character and personality development. Martin McLaughlin and Thomas Pieklo were co-chairmen of the dinner.

Retarded Can Respond To Religion
Students at the Newark State School are noted for having five "R's" in their life. Instead of the usual three, Catholic chaplain Rev. E. Charles Bauer told a college group in Ithaca last week. Father Bauer told Ithaca College hearers that his charges had two extra "R's" in their lives—retardation and religion. His lecture was sponsored by the Newman Club and the Theta Phi fraternity. Despite their handicaps, retarded children are particularly responsive to religion. Their ability to express religious attitudes may be limited—for some it may be kissing a holy picture, or folding their hands prayerfully—but it is meaningful to them. Father outlined his program for religious education for the children at Newark State School, explaining that the requirements for receiving the sacraments are kept to the barest minimum. 90% of the retarded cannot read, and the remaining 10% cannot read well. It is unusual for even a few to attain a reading capacity equal to a sixth grader. Writing and arithmetic are even more difficult. WITH THE HELP of approximately 20 volunteers, the children are given religious instruction once a week in a 40 minute class. It usually requires three years of instruction for the reception of Holy Communion. An active life is maintained, so that instruction can be started if there is improvement; however, Father noted that when one is retarded, there is more often regression than improvement. Mass is offered on Sundays and other liturgical services throughout the year. Around 650 children attend Mass, and their behavior is surprising in that they are very quiet and attentive, just about the opposite of normal children's behavior in Church. All the responses have been learned, and the words are pronounced correctly. In addition, the patients know approximately a dozen hymns. Father asked the physical therapy students to keep in mind for their future work that handicapped people are people; that they must consider the total personality of their patients.

Auburn Pastor Attends New Cardinal's Rites
Auburn—Rev. Basil Ostas, pastor of SS. Peter and Paul Ukrainian Catholic Church returns from Rome this week after attending the elevation ceremonies of the newly named Joseph Cardinal Slipyi, the Primate of Ukrainian Catholics.

FATHER OSTAS flew to Rome two weeks ago with about 12 of his classmates from the United States and Canada. Cardinal Slipyi was the group's professor of Dogmatic Theology at St. Joseph's Seminary in Lvov, Ukraine. Father Ostas visited Lourdes, France and with his classmates celebrated a Mass for the intention of Cardinal Slipyi. During his stay in Rome, the Auburn pastor visited six church-basilicas, Catacombs, the Ukrainian Catholic Pontifical Seminary and he also had an audience with Pope Paul VI. He also visited Rev. Stephen Pirchak, OFM of Auburn who is studying at the Gregorian Institute in Rome. After the elevation, Father Ostas attended a special banquet.
