Zito Wins Again

Gene Zito, Bishop Kearney High School junior, won a $50 prize and advanced to state finals of the American Legion Oratorical contest by placing first in the Zone Five eliminations, Sunday, February 22. Speaking on "The Constitution, the Temple of Liberty," at Cattaraugus Central School, Cattaraugus. Gene competed with Paul Mann, Dundee Central School; Stephanie DeWitt, Holley Central School; and Peter Raymond of Lockport Senior High School. Gene was coached by Brother M. E. Bradley, F.S.C.H. State finals are scheduled for March 13 at West Henrietta High School.

Confratello Honored

Gale Ewanow, a four-year voice student at Nazareth Academy, received a Certificate of Merit from the New York State School of Music Association for his performance in the Conference All State Senior High School Concert at Kleinhans Music Hall in February. A confratello, Gale auditioned for the concert with the song, "O Thou That Telles Good Tidings" from Handel's "Messiah." Gale recently played the lead in the Persian Choir's "Sound of Music."

Graduation Gowns

A Graduation Fashion Show for the seniors of St. Agnes High School and their mothers was held on Friday, February 26, at 3 p.m. in the school auditorium. Mrs. Judith Hunt, McQuaid's high school fashion board advisor, was the commentator for the show which featured twenty-five graduation dresses modeled by ten seniors from St. Agnes. These models were: Patricia Bader, Anne Marie Blum, Nancy Bruckel, Patricia Crandall, Marsha Haase, Faye Henner, Kathleen Nicols, Sharron Ross, Helene Wagner, and Kathleen Ziebro.

Academy Nominees

Four McQuaid seniors and an alumnus of the school were named as nominees for Navy and Air Force Academy Scholarships. The announcement was made by Representative Frank Horton, who named Mark Sullivan and Peter Platt for Air Force Academy nominations, and Mike Spiegel, Dick Delaguardia, and Richard Lersch for Annapolis possibilities. Mark Sullivan is finishing his senior year at McQuaid with a record of first honors for all his four years. He has been successful in debating and oratory. Peter Platt, now the secretary of the Student Council, has also been a steady honor student, and is active in sports. Mike Spiegel, of 29 South Street in Pittsford, has contributed outstanding performances in basketball and football. Dick Delaguardia is an all-around student. His sports activities include baseball and football, for all four years, and basketball in his first three. He has been a home room officer in every year, and also worked on the Special Services Committee of the Student Council as a junior. Richard Lersch was a student at McQuaid last year and graduated as a 4-year member of the Sodality, as well as a participant in the Camera Club and the Saddle and Bridle Club.

Talented Writers

Nazareth Academy students have received recognition for writing from three organizations during February. Karen Veroski, a senior, won second place in the 17th annual national Ability Counts Contest.

Mercians' Retreat

Spurred by the slogan, "Unity with Christ through Love," Mercy High students will spiritually renovate themselves during the annual retreat on March 10, 11, and 12. Two guest retreat masters and a retreat innovation, are the ingredients for the 1965 retreat. Upperclassmen and underclassmen will have conferences separately, as in former years. Juniors and seniors will hear Rev. Daniel Torney, assistant pastor of St. John the Evangelist in Greece; freshmen and sophomores will meet for talks by Rev. Frank Gartland, CSB, editor of The Catholic Boy from 1945-62 and currently director of vocations, Holy Cross Fathers, Eastern Province. Diocesan priests will be available for confessions throughout the retreat. Students who wish to return in the evening to Mercy will take part in an innovation. Discussion sessions between students and the retreat masters are being planned by Rev. P. David Elnks, Mercy chaplain.

Vocation Panel

Three representatives or religious orders in the Rochester area were members of a Vocation Panel at Our Lady of Mercy High School on March 1. Sister Mary Catherine Spratt, a Sister of the Cenacle; Sister Mary Margretta, a Sister of Mercy; and Sister Theresa Mary, a Missionary Sister of the Sacred Heart, were participants in the open audience discussion. The program was sponsored by the Student Government Association, according to Jo Ann Belle-Isle, president.

Mercy Artists Score

Five Mercy students have received honors in the Scholastic Press Art Awards Contest. They are Ann Meng, Chrystina Hawrylak, Mary Aman, Martha Connors and Mary-Beth Raymond. This contest is sponsored by Scholastic Magazines Inc. Ann Meng, a student at the Memorial Art Gallery, was one of five area entrants to receive a Hallmark Award, the highest honor that can be attained in a regional contest. She received this award for an ink drawing of four men on horseback, entitled "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Her entry will now be sent on to New York to be judged in the National High School Art Exhibition in May. Chris Hawrylak, a member of the freshman class, received a blue ribbon for an ink drawing and a white ribbon for a pastel drawing. Seniors Mary Aman and Mary Beth Raymond and junior Mar-

Science Conclave

Sister Mary Carmella and Sister Mary Nathanael, members of Notre Dame High School's science department, recently attended a statewide Science Convention in Buffalo. The convention was sponsored by the Science Teachers' Association of New York State, and dealt with curriculum and syllabus changes for the future. The Sisters also attended an American Chemical Society Workshop in Corning on Feb. 27.

Career Experts

To continue Cardinal Mooney High School's discussion of career opportunities, a panel of experts on March 10 will discuss requirements for the nursing profession. Speakers will include Mrs. Richard Young, local public relations representative for the nursing profession; Mrs. Ruth Lyon, coordinator of the Associate Degree in Nursing at Monroe Community College; and Miss Virginia Krenzer from St. Mary's Hospital to represent diploma nursing.

Roman Holiday

Sister Anne Joseph, Sister Ramon and the members of the Latin Club of Nazareth Academy were served a banquet in the ancient Roman style as guests of the Latin Club of St. Agnes High School last Tuesday, Mar. 2 at St. Agnes. Greeted at the entrance by slaves, guests were escorted to the dining room and directed to enter "right foot first" for luck. According to the ancient manner of banqueting, all reclined on pillows at low tables. At each place was a favor fashioned in the manner of the "fasces," a bundle of rods symbolizing Roman authority. Slaves then attended at all the guests needs, providing perfumed water for them to wash their fingers and serving a Roman menu "beginning with eggs and ending with apples." Between courses were Latin songs, games, a reading from Vergil by Sue Bedford and Georgia Spade, and the Greek-Latin tragedy, entitled "Alcettis" translated into English by Latin II students Nancy Bachofer, Jean Trybolski, Paula Connelly, and Bonnie Meath. The presence of the voice of the Oracle added a bit of suspense to the atmosphere. Preparations were completed under the supervision of Sister Adrienne and Miss Arlene Robinson by the following chairmen and their committees: Kathleen Winsor, Invitations; Gail Fox, Decorations; Rosemarie Della Pietra, Banquet; Catherine Zienna, Games; Nancy Bachofer, Patricia Edelman, Annette Sleyman, Entertainment; and Linda Criddle, Props.

Math Test

Fifteen members of the Math Club at Notre Dame High School, Elmira, took a national math test on March 3 during the first 80 minutes of the school day. Ten seniors and five juniors took the test, but only seniors are in competition. The highest marks will be submitted to the national committee, and the school will be rated according to these marks.

Set For Panel

Daniel Kavanaugh, editor of the Crest, Cardinal Mooney High School's monthly paper, has been invited to participate in a panel at St. Bonaventure Press Day on May 13. He will speak on some phase of editorial writing. Thirteen members of the staff will attend.
