McQuaid Captures Tourney Title

By JOHN SLATTERY

Holding the lead from start to finish, McQuaid Jesuit High School's basketballers polished off DeSales of Geneva, 68-53, for the Diocesan Tournament championship before a large crowd at the U. of Rochester Palestra last Sunday afternoon.

Aquinas took third place honors by downing Notre Dame of Elmira, 80-59, in the opening game.

For McQuaid, it was the fourth title in the 7-year history of the tournament and its second in a row. The Knights' ace, Tony Leonardo, put them ahead at the start with a long jumper, and Jerry Bunce's layup quickly made it 4-0. DeSales got on the scoreboard with a free throw by Tom Welch and a jump shot by John Fitzgerald, sandwiched around two fouls by McQuaid's Lance Compa.

Then five points by Bunce and a bucket by Stanley got McQuaid rolling and with 1:40 left in the opening period, Leonardo's layup capped a 14-point burst that put the Knights out of sight at 20-3. DeSales got four points back before the buzzer, but McQuaid still led by 13 at the quarter.

The second quarter saw the Knights stretch their lead, despite an 8-point effort from Saints' reserve Mike Roulan. Nine points and some fancy feeds by Compa helped put McQuaid solidly in command at halftime, 41-22.

DeSales pecked away slowly at that bulge during the third period but Leonardo hit for 6 markers to shove the lead back to 55-37 going into the final quarter. In the last 8 minutes, McQuaid coach Ken Jones substituted freely, and a pair of promising sophs, Henry Enders and Jeff Gillenkirk, scored 9 points between them as five J.V. grads protected the Knights' margin.

Individually, Leonardo added 16 points to his record-breaking total giving him 454 for the season and an average of 22.7 per game. Compa contributed 15 markers and also assisted on 3 baskets, giving him a record 102 feeds for the year.

Jerry Bunce and John Stanley each bucketed 11 for McQuaid, all of Bunce's coming in the first half. For DeSales, Roulan was the only man in double figures, with 10.

In the consolation match, Aquinas shook off Notre Dame in the third period and coasted from there. The Little Irish stopped a Notre Dame uprising that brought the visitors to within 31-29 late in the first half and took a 35-39 lead into the decisive third quarter.

Aquinas doubled its lead then to 53-40 and put the game on ice with a 17-4 spurt early in the last period.

Aquinas star Jim Caverly led his squad with 22 points while Tom Dudley and Bob Keegan chipped in with 17 and 12. For the Crusaders, 5-9 guard Dan McCarthy, a sophomore, was high with 18 and Jim Merriam connected for 14, 10 of them on free throws.

Aquinas Sets Mission Bouts

It's better to give than to receive. With this thought in mind, 40 Aquinas Institute students will climb through the ring ropes on March 26 and 27 to benefit Catholic Missions throughout the world.

The school auditorium will be transformed into a miniature arena, complete with a professional ring, klieg lights and ringside seats.

In all there will be 20 bouts ranging from atomic weight to heavyweight classes. Freshmen will fight on Friday night and upperclassmen will go at it on Saturday night. Each finalist must survive several elimination bouts held during the week preceeding the bouts in the school gymnasium to win a place in the classic which annually attracts a large crowd.

Mission bout rules are strict and safety measures are stressed. Each boy is subjected to a medical examination before training begins. A doctor is always at ringside and fights that might become onesided are immediately terminated. There has never been a serious injury in the 28-year history of the bouts.

Key men responsible for whipping the fighters into shape are Frank "Hunk" Vadas, Rev. John Neary and Mr. Emmett Neary, a Basilian seminarian. The Neary brothers are both former Aquinas Mission Bout champions and Emmett held the Canadian Collegiate Crown while attending the University of Toronto before entering the Basilian community.

Boxing buffs have seen the Aquinas bouts come a long way during the years. By the late 1950's the War Memorial was hard pressed to accomodate the crowds. During the 1960's Aquinas boxing followed the national trend and last year the finals were brought back to the Dewey Avenue school. As a national sport boxing has to either escalate or evaporate.

According to Vadas, boxing is beginning to bloom a bit again. "I don't think there is any question about it, more people are buying tickets these days. Some of the old crowd are returning and bringing new blood with them. Interest in boxing, at the national level and also on the local front is on the rise," he said.

For those who worry about injuries in the ring, Rev. Cyril F. Carter, C.S.B., Aquinas athletic director, has this to say: "Our boxing program is hedged about with more medical supervision, protective devices and precautionary rules of play than any other sport of comparable roughness. Our impressive record of competition without serious injury over the years testifies to the efficacy of these measures."

Seminary Wins Tenth

St. Andrew's Seminary College five finished its season last Saturday winning 77-53 over Basilian Seminary of Toronto on the St. John Fisher court. This Spartan victory made their overall record 10 wins and six losses, and the school's best record ever.

Coach Jim Griffin started an all senior five of Paul Schaeffer, Tim Wood, Bob Kronmiller, Bill Hohman and Len Pagenelli in their last game and they promptly raced to a 9-0 lead. The home five Basilians came back on two baskets by Butch Casey and one by Tom Goodwin. But the Spartans continued to work for the good close shot and moved ahead at halftime 34-17.

This spread was largely due to Jim McSweeney's three baskets and John Barnoski's fine rebounding and eleven points. The second half found the home club still having trouble with their shooting and unable to get close in shots due to a fine zone defense of St. Andrew's. Meanwhile the Spartan five led by Jay Travers and Tim Durkin scoring six points apiece and setting up Hohman and McSweeney increased their lead to 24 points with 10 minutes remaining.

Cacey and Jerry Grzywacz led the home club with 18 and 16 respectively while Barnoski (19), McSweeney (11) and Travers with 10, paced the Spartans.

McQuaid Cage Clinic Lists Michigan Coach

McQuaid Jesuit High School's seventh annual basketball coaching clinic will be held on Saturday, April 3.

Clinic directors George Monagan, coach of Monroe Community College, and Ken Jones, coach of McQuaid, have reached out to the Midwest to obtain one of Michigan's top scholastic coaches, Gus Ganakas, to conduct the all-day sessions.

Ganakas coached at East Lansing High School for 12 seasons before assuming this year the duties of co-ordinator of the athletic scholarship fund at Michigan State University. His teams at East Lansing were noted for their pressure defense, which was a big factor in seven straight conference championships, one state championship, three undefeated seasons, and a regular-season winning streak of 42 games. He has appeared previously at clinics and coaching schools in Indiana, Nebraska, Michigan, and Texas, but this will be his first stint in the East.

The trip to Rochester will be something of a homecoming for Ganakas, who was born in Mt. Morris and graduated from high school there.

His talks at the clinic will include a showing of a special training film he used with great success at East Lansing.

Reservations for the clinic can be made through Ken Jones at McQuaid (GR 3-1130).

Didio Resigns Post As Mt. Carmel Coach

Auburn — David Didio, head coach of football at Mount Carmel High School the past two years, has resigned the position, according to Rev. Malachy J. Mahoney, O. Carm., school principal.

Father Malachy said that Didio has resigned in order to be able to devote more time in pursuing further studies at Cortland State Teachers College. He attends the college two nights a week.

In a prepared statement Father Malachy said, "Mr. Didio has been associated with Mount Carmel athletic activities for several years and as head grid coach the past two years. We know he has worked hard in order to bring out the best that our boys had to offer. The players and faculty appreciate what he has done.

DAVID DIDIO

"I am sorry that he will not be able to devote full time to our athletic program but I am happy that he will be able to continue teaching here at Mt. Carmel. We wish him well and we thank him for his past efforts."

In his closing remarks, the Carmel principal said, "From this point on, the position of head football coach is wide open and we must begin the search for a qualified replacement."

Didio said, "I want to thank all those who have assisted me in the past and I want to offer my services, insofar as I will be able, to anyone who takes over the job."

An outstanding athlete in football, basketball and baseball, Didio also coached freshmen basketball at Carmel. His football team had a 3-3-1 record while his cagers were 11-3 this past season.
