

Majority Favor Changes

ROCHESTER, (NC) — Results of a survey here show an overwhelming majority of Catholics endorsing the new Mass rite.

Father William J. Sheerer, chairman of the Archdiocesan Liturgy Commission, said the survey revealed that 82 per cent — 1,800 — of those responding to questionnaires welcomed the use of English in the Mass.

He said replies to a question on dislikes in the new liturgy were so scattered that no pattern of complaint emerged.

Many respondents, however, cited the on-and-off use of the vernacular and said they want of a consistent use of English.

Father Sheerer said 98 per cent of those who answered a question on hymns said they liked singing at Mass.

Mass facing the people also drew a favorable response with 78 per cent in favor of having the Mass offered in this manner, 26 per cent wanting it "only now and then," and 19 per cent who did not like it at all.

Another survey question gave a "very strong vote of confidence" to lay lecturers and commentators. "Eighty-six per cent believed these men are doing a good job," said Father Sheerer.

Archbishop John F. Dearden of Detroit said he hoped to use the results as a guideline in future liturgical changes as well as an indication of attitudes on those already adopted.

Holy Week Baptisms

Fourteen new Catholics were received into the faith at St. Lucy's Church, Rochester, Wednesday evening of Holy Week. Father Ignatius St. George, pastor, baptized the eleven children and three adult converts for their First Communion on Holy Thursday. Youngsters baptized were Yvette Love, Leon Cleveland, Sylvester Cleveland, Ricky Davis, Jean Weaver, Claude Allen, Michael Campbell, Thaddeus Campbell, Cynthia Marie Cleveland, Dilyada Marie Hymes and Vincent Brown Jr.

Father Manley Funeral was awarded the Bronze Star, the American Defense Ribbon, the European Theater Ribbon and seven battle stars.

But he saw no glory in war and literally threw away the badges of honor to help him forget the agony of that era.

In less than five years as pastor at St. Mary's in Elmira, he renovated and enlarged the parish school, improved the auditorium and the church, renovated a convent for the Assumption nuns who teach religion to children of the parish, who attend public schools, built a new rectory and, just prior to his final and brief illness, arranged for installation of a new organ for the church.

Preaching the eulogy at his funeral will be the same priest who gave the sermon at his silver jubilee Mass in 1960, Father Joseph F. Hogan.

Father Manley was the son of Thomas and Catherine Wickham Manley of Auburn. He attended St. Aloysius school, Auburn Academic High School, St. Andrew's and St. Bernard's Seminaries.

He was ordained June 15, 1935, and assigned as assistant pastor of St. Francis of Assisi Church, Rochester, and in 1937 transferred to Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Rochester. He served as a U.S. Army chaplain from 1941 to 1945 and was then named curate at Blessed Sacrament Church.

He was appointed pastor of St. Gabriel's Church, Hammondsport, in June of 1955 and pastor of St. Cecilia's Church, Elmira, in October of the same year. He was named to his Elmira pastorate in 1959.

Priests of the Diocese said Vespers of the Dead for him Thursday evening. Burial will be in St. Peter and Paul's Cemetery, Elmira.

He is survived by a brother Leo of Pittman, N.J., three sisters: Sister Marie Catherine, S.S.J., Mrs. Harold Barnett of Cicero, N.Y., Mrs. John Herrling of Auburn, and an aunt, Miss Mary Manley of Elmira.

Freedom in Ceylon

COLUMBO — (NC) — Catholic, Protestant, Buddhist, Moslem, and Hindu religious dignitaries were present at the ceremonial opening of the first session of the Ceylon parliament elected on March 22.

Gov. Gen. William Gopallawa opened the session with a speech reiterating an assurance of religious freedom given earlier by new Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake.

Educators Meet in N.Y.

New York — (NC) — The "Great Society" which President Johnson has asked the nation to seek must be built on the philosophy that Americans are a religious people, Catholic educators heard here.

"We must not be afraid to think and speak and act like a religious people," said Auxiliary Bishop John S. Spence of Washington.

The prelate delivered the sermon at the opening Mass of this week's 62nd annual convention of the National Catholic Educational Association.

Cardinal Spellman, host to the convention, presided at the service in St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Bishop Spence, former superintendent of Washington archdiocesan schools, said President Johnson's call for a great society is laudable and that the nation has resources to meet his challenge.

"An airplane cannot fly without fuel," he said. "And we cannot build a Great Society without a motivation worthy of it."

He suggested that the motive is found in the phrase, "order in the universe," used by the late Pope John. He said this concept has deep roots in the U.S. national heritage, noting the Supreme Court's 1962 observation that "we are a religious people whose institutions presuppose a Supreme Being."

The first U.S. woman named an auditor at the Vatican Council outlined major accomplishments of the Council's third session in 1964 and suggested they are working with Christ roles elementary school teachers

Sister Mary Luke, who is mother general of the Sisters of Loretto of Nerinx, Ky., and chairman of the Conference of Major Superiors of Women's Religious Communities, the international coordinating body of U.S. sisterhoods, said that "the Church has clearly and resolutely embarked into the open sea of ecumenism."

"In every field of Christian education and at every level of instruction, this effort to contribute positively to the ecumenical movement can find expression, particularly in the cultivation of wholesome attitudes toward the beliefs and practices of others," she said.

Sister Mary Luke, who taught for nearly 25 years in Missouri, Colorado and Illinois, told the grade school teachers they can teach children to make every "Our Father" a prayer of thanksgiving and hope, "realizing that Christians all over the world use these very same words to address God the Father."

"They can be shown," she continued, "that every time they make an effort to understand others, to avoid disputes, they are working with Christ for the unity of His Church."
