

Nun Dons

Secular Garb

Montreal — (RNS) — Sister Jacqueline Carriere of the Sisters of St. Anne is the first nun in Quebec and probably the first in Canada to wear secular women's clothes when working outside her convent.

Secretary of Montreal's Ecumenical Center, she believes the day will come when most nuns will wear ordinary dress, donning religious habits only for convent life.

A member of a teaching and nursing order that has some 2,000 nuns in this country, Sister Jacqueline said her habit seemed to be a barrier to communication and even an embarrassment to Non-Catholics.

Churches Back Housing Project in Syracuse

Syracuse — (RNS) — A plan for development of a 350-unit middle-income housing project in an urban renewal area here is underway, sponsored by Catholic and Protestant Episcopal groups.

It is believed to be the first time that Catholics and Episcopalians in this part of the state have joined for a project with Federal Housing Administration financing.

Trinity House Corporation is a union of Mount St. James Corporation, whose officers are Catholic laymen, and Trinity Foundation, an Episcopal group. The new corporation will seek city approval for the housing. If Trinity House Corporation is designated as developer of the urban renewal project, it would be operated on a non-profit basis with income equally divided between the two religious groups for charitable purposes. The project involves 137 acres in the urban renewal area.

Jubilarian

Rochester - born Capuchin Father Adalbert Salerno, now of Sydney, Australia, celebrated his silver jubilee in the priesthood this week. His sister, Miss Josephine Salerno of 18 Costar St., will fly to Australia this summer to visit him. They are children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Salerno of St. Anthony's parish. Father Salerno studied in Italy, taught at his order's seminary at Beacon, N.Y., and in 1945 was assigned to parish work in Australia.

Protestant Rites For Seminaries?

Boston — (RNS) — A proposal that some parts of Protestant worship be used in Roman Catholic seminaries was aired here at a National Workshop on Christian Unity.

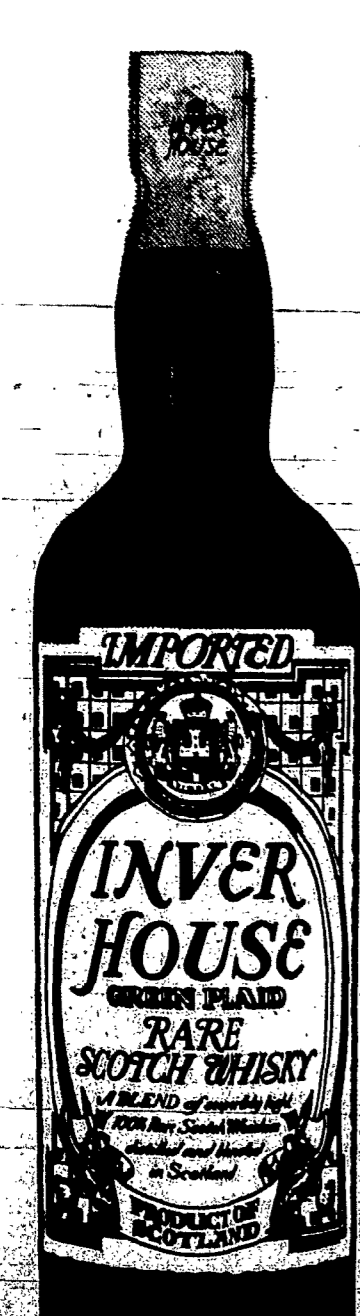

Mgr. Myles M. Bourke of St. Joseph's Seminary, Yonkers, N.Y., made the suggestion at a session attended by some 200 churchmen including Protestant and Orthodox observers.

Speaking on "The Role of the Seminary in the Ecumenical Movement," Mr. Bourke stressed the value of a dialogue between Roman Catholic seminarians and other theological students in connection with their studies.

The workshop speaker suggested that it might be desirable "that bishops give permission for 'certain forms' of non-Catholic worship in the seminaries."

"Would not the evensong of the Book of Common Prayer," the priest asked, "be suitably used, on occasion, as a means of familiarizing the seminarians with what has been called an outstanding example of 'traditional Catholic prayer; and of uniting them in spirit with those, who though separated, are their brothers in Christ through Baptism?'"
