

Nuns Visit Migrants

Tiffin, Ohio—(NC)—Seventy three nuns from the Franciscan motherhouse here scattered out for a visit to the migrants in their camps in this northwestern Ohio area.

"Operation Love" will become a regular summer activity. The nuns have reserved Wednesday evening for their visits with the migrants. They just chat with the adults, sing and play with the children.

Father Thomas Wehinger, Toledo diocese priest assigned to the migrant apostolate for the summer, was pleased the way things went the first evening.

"Their very presence in the camp is a way of saying they're interested," Father Wehinger said of the nuns.

They went as visitors, empty-handed.

From the two Tiffin parishes there were 20 volunteer drivers who went to the 27 migrant farm workers' camps, after the evening meal.

After the first visit, Sister Karen said: "We drove away from the camp listening to the refrain, 'Do come back again, please!'"

Others said:

Sister Jean: "The men eyed us curiously, the women were hesitant but polite, and the children were wild with joy and squealed, 'Sister!'"

Sister Rachel: "I had my first experience in how to roll out tortillas, keeping them nice and round and flat."

Sister Francine: "Before we left a little third grader begged, 'Don't get in an accident on the way home. We want you to come next week. I'm going to pray every night for you.'"

Sister Zita: "They are eager for visitors. The little girl, 9 said, 'You are the first ones to pay us a visit. We never have company.'"

In the eyes of one mother who has been coming with her family from the Texas-Mexico border for seven years, there were tears.

SKILLFUL DRIVERS Anne Sutton and Paul Ekes, of Notre Dame, Elmira, High School won the two first prizes in the Chemung County Road-E-O held recently.

Martyrs' Total Now at 171

Leopoldville—(NC)—The deaths of three Belgian nuns and a Dutch priest last November have been confirmed by refugees here, bringing the five-year toll of Catholic missionaries in the Congo to 171.

Margaret Hayes, an English Protestant nurse liberated from Congolese rebels by government troops late last month, said she has received eyewitness accounts of the deaths of the missionaries at the mission station of Banalia.

The priest was identified as Father Herman, Bishop of Dutch Sacred Heart missionary. Besides the priest and the nuns, five Protestant missionaries and two children died at Banalia.
