Helen McMillen Requiem Offered At Cathedral

A Pontifical Requiem Mass was offered for Mrs. Helen C. McMillen by Bishop Lawrence B. Casey at Sacred Heart Cathedral on Tuesday, July 27, 1965. Bishop Casey also said the Absolution prayers after the Mass.

Mrs. McMillen's son, Rev. Gerardo C. McMillen, O.F.M., assisted Bishop Casey in the sanctuary, while the Rev. Gerald Appely was master of ceremonies. 15 other priests assisted at the requiem Mass.

Mrs. McMillen died on Saturday, July 24, 1965. Other survivors are her two daughters, Mrs. John F. Judge and Mrs. James J. Goodwin, a daughter-in-law, Mrs. John E. McMillen, 7 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren.

89 years old at the time of her death, Mrs. McMillen resided formerly at 336 S. Goodman St.

with an "anything goes" attitude.

How to change it, this attitude? Not by edict, certainly. Americans won't be dictated to in personal matters. It has to come about almost by osmosis. Like the Christians, "Light one little candle." Look around at a crowd of fellow tourists: four? ten? twenty? dressed neatly and appropriately can set the tone. Perhaps next day or the next week their number will be enlarged, the Sloppy Joes and Josephines may feel more comfortable and au courant with the shorts and the midriffs let in the hotel room.

Besides, maybe somebody from your home town will be among the tourists!

At Our House

Summer Sights

By MARY TINLEY DALY

From Maine to California, from Oregon to Florida, from the Canadian border to the Gulf of Mexico, at this time of year Americans—millions of Americans—are on the move.

And the sights they see are, too often, the sights they and their fellow tourists stretch pants stretched to the utmost, shorts and T shirts, bare midriffs, bare legs and bare or slightly sandaled feet, hair in rollers, sometimes not even covered with a kerchief.

These are the sights of summer, trailing around in hordes to the most hallowed, historical shrines of our nation, even to churches and cathedrals. Chewing gum, munching popcorn, dropping candy wrappers, they come to "see the sights."

The incongruity of traveling many miles, spending a great deal of money, obviously for the reason of enriching their lives, and then dressing in a manner thoroughly inappropriate to the buildings and memorials they visit doesn't seem to enter their consciousness. It's like going to the beach in an evening gown, to a dance in a bathing suit.

A visit to President Roosevelt's home in Hyde Park was a case in point. In this well preserved building replete with the elegance and culture of another day, were men wearing T shirts, sandals and shorts, even tramping on the exquisite plantings of the grounds about the grave.

Washington, D.C., that mecca for tourists, is perhaps the most abused city in this respect. Tastelessly, even vulgarly dressed visitors are seen at the Capitol, the White House, Mount Vernon, the Library of Congress, Arlington Cemetery and other historic spots, and at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. A sign at this latter requests that those entering wear appropriate clothing but quite evidently a lot of people don't believe in signs.

Granted, Washington is hot, humid and uncomfortable in the summer. Nevertheless, surely a loose cotton sleeveless shirt and low-heeled shoes for women; cotton trousers and open-necked short-sleeved sports shirts for men would be every bit as cool as the outlandish dishabille so glaringly flaunted.

Makes you wonder if there isn't a bit of irony when a neatly dressed guide assembles his group to explain the significance of the sights they are about to see, turns to face them and addresses them as "Ladies and Gentlemen."

Beautification of Washington, recently undertaken as a project of the present administration, is being propelled one step further by the wife of Vice President Hubert Humphrey when she urges that tourists to our nation's capital dress properly out of respect for the shrines they visit.

Mrs. Humphrey does not advocate censoring of garb nor forbidding entrance to buildings and memorials to those inappropriately dressed. Rather, she hopes that the tourists themselves will sense this as out of tune with the purpose of their visit.

To this we say Amen. Chances are, no purposeful disrespect, even irreverence, is meant by the shorts-wearers, shifters, the women pants packers. Instead in the anonymity of crowds ("Nobody knows me anyway"), they see others sloppily dressed

Wedding Planned

Corning—A Sept. 11 wedding is being planned by Miss Mary Ellen Ward and Daniel J. Murphy. Announcement of their engagement is made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ward of 175 Pulteney St. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murphy of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Serra Meeting

The next meeting of the Serra Club will be Thursday noon, August 5, at the Manger Hotel. The speaker will be Father Francis H. Vogt, pastor of St. Bridget's Church. Father Vogt's topic will be "Parishes and Involvement in the Race Problem."

PATIENCE HELPS TO MAKE THE CHRISTIAN BROTHERS BURGUNDY A GREAT WINE.

This is Brother Timothy, Cellar-master of The Christian Brothers of California. He knows that a superlative wine cannot be hurried. To develop great character it must be matured slowly, first in wood and then in the bottle.

Here he examines the Burgundy for clarity and color. It is a full-bodied red wine, cared for in the patient tradition of The Christian Brothers.

For nearly a century now, The Christian Brothers have made wines in support of their educational missions on the West Coast.

Brother Timothy suggests that you select The Christian Brothers Burgundy to accompany your next red meat meal. As you enjoy it, you will know why it is that there are twenty-two great American wines. They are made by The Christian Brothers.
