Requiem Mass For Carl Samuelson

Requiem Mass for Carl E. Samuelson, 63, of 200 Clover Hill Drive, Brighton, was offered on Friday, July 30, 1965, by Rev. James Slattery at Our Lady Queen of Peace Church.

Mr. Samuelson, who died on Tuesday, July 27, 1965, had retired in 1961 after 37 years with Ernst and Ernst, certified public accountants. He was office manager when he retired.

A trustee of Our Lady Queen of Peace parish, Mr. Samuelson is survived by his wife, Mary; a daughter, Mary Ann Samuelson; two sons, J. David of Rochester and Thomas M. of Cleveland; two sisters, Mrs. Leonard Garvin of Russell, Pa., and Evelyn Samuelson of Warren and a brother, Everett of Warren, Pa.

Father William Charboneau and Cieran Ryan assisted at the Mass, and at the committal service at Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

'Little Brothers' Thrive on Poverty

Montreal — (NC) — There are five Little Brothers of the Poor in Montreal — only 45 in the world.
The brotherhood is a secular institute in its formative years, not yet officially recognized by the Church — but the Brothers busily are working toward "trying to put a little love into charity."
Hubert Ravinel, 31, was director of the Montreal fraternity and now in Paris, France, where he is general director of the institute for a term of six years.
The Little Brothers of the Poor were formed by Armand Marquet of France. He conceived the idea in 1939 but it was not until 1958 that it took concrete form. Today at 65 he is still active in the work.

The members dress as laymen. They lead a community life and annually renew their promises of poverty, obedience and chastity. They do not follow a rigid rule but rather a rule which "adapts itself to the individual" and allows the institute to derive the greatest benefit from the individuality of each member.
They ask themselves each day: "Have we brought happiness and given pleasure to the poor, whose need in this respect often is greater than their need for food?"

They finance their work through the generosity of benefactors and the public. The Montreal community recently held a bazaar in a Montreal hotel, where they sold a variety of articles which had been donated to them. The hotel provided the bazaar quarters free. The local response as yet has not been sufficient to meet all needs, so about two-thirds of their budget is met by the Paris headquarters.
Recruitment of members has not been rapid here. Seven Canadians joined in little more than three years. One of them was a former well-known comedian, Roland Longpre, now serving in Paris. He was partly responsible for establishment of a Montreal section.
Their work is mainly with old men who are poor and lead lonely lives. They visit about 150 such men each month, bringing parcels of butter, meat, vegetables and preserves. Birthdays are remembered with special gifts — flowers, a cake, and even a bottle of good wine.
Then there are some 50 other old men, not in need of food but yearning for companionship. They are visited each month and can look forward to hours of "pleasant conversation" on games.

Each summer the Little Brothers rent a summer vacation cottage and 12 old men get a holiday. They are permitted to arrange their own recreation during this vacation. The sick and those who have never had a chance to enjoy such a holiday get precedence, then other aged men who spent most of their lives in the country and miss it in their cramped city living.
Applicants for membership in the Little Brothers is generally restricted to men from 20 to 30 years old. The community

Established in Montreal since 1962 at 2112 Bleury Street, the Little Brothers of the Poor also have establishments in France, Belgium, Morocco, India, and in Chicago, Ill. The average age of the Canadian members is only 27.

Three Suburban Art Group members, Joan Knapp, Marie DePalma, and Rosamond Najjar, are exhibiting work at the Greece Public Library until September 30. About 30 pieces, primarily traditional in subject include oils, monoprints and pastels.

Earlier this year, Pope Paul VI told Rotary members that earlier Church reservations stemmed from the fear that the "very sober and discreet limits of the bylaws of Rotary" might represent themselves "as a sufficient norm to guide the conscience of man."
However, he said, Rotary has proven that it "is aware of its limits and therefore respects the thoughts of its members and does not prevent authoritative voices from bringing at times within its breast the testimonies of age-old philosophy and of the Christian message."

Are You Losing Money On Savings?

(If Your Answer Is "Yes" Better Do Something About It—Quick!)

YES. My savings account is at a bank where I lose interest every time I withdraw money before the end of the quarter.

NO. My savings account is at Security Trust where it earns interest every day. I earn 4% interest per year right up to the very day I withdraw money, as long as $1 remains at the end of the quarter.
