

Priest of Diocese Tells Of Philippines Mission

Rev. John D. Hurley, a priest of the Rochester Diocese who is doing missionary work in the Philippines, has reported that he has just completed a three-room school for the youngsters of Mount Carmel Mission in the village of San Luis in Quezon Province.

His mission is far inland, he said, and transporting needed equipment and materials for the school was a costly operation.

He hopes soon to build a church and then a clergy residence.

Father Hurley, an Air Force chaplain from 1949 until 1958, saw the urgent need for priests in mission outposts of the Church and began his missionary career seven years ago.

Prior to his military and mission careers, he served as a curate at Holy Rosary parish, Rochester, St. John's in Spencerport and Our Lady of Lourdes Elmira.

In his letter to Bishop Casey, Father Hurley said if "any generous soul is seeking for an unknown and secret charity" he'd be glad to oblige. Contributions may be sent to him through the Diocesan Propagation of the Faith Society, 50 Chestnut St., Rochester.

Pope Greet's Episcopal Prelate

Pope Paul early in August personally greeted Episcopal Bishop George W. Barrett of Rochester at Castel Gandolfo and asked for his prayers.

The Pope, Bishop Barrett reported, "assured me of his prayers for all of you."

The Bishop and Mrs. Barrett went to Italy after visiting England, including Rochester.

In the cathedral where St. John Fisher was bishop prior to his martyrdom in 1535, a service was held to mark Bishop Barrett's visit there.

Father John A. Burke, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of St. John Fisher in Rochester, attended the ceremony vested in surplice, stole and cope—the first Catholic priest to take part in a religious rite in that cathedral since the Reformation era.

After his audience with Pope Paul, Bishop Barrett visited St. Peter's at the Vatican and viewed the archeological excavations at the tomb of St. Peter beneath the basilica's main altar.

25 Years Ago

(From files of Catholic Courier, Sept. 5, 1940)
A certificate of incorporation was filed for the new Our Lady of Lourdes Church in West Elmira.

Catholic Conference on Industrial Problems, one of the first to be promoted by the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, was to hold sessions in Rochester, Sept. 23, 24 on invitation of Bishop Kearney.

Cyril J. Statt, 48 Cutler St. was named Master, Fifth District, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus by Supreme Master James F. Reddin of Denver, Colo.

New Church for Penfield Parish

PROPOSED NEW CHURCH BUILDING for St. Joseph's Parish Penfield. Above is shown the new brick structure planned to accommodate 1,000 people. Design is such that the parishioners will be offered an unobstructed view of the main altar during Mass. The church will be erected adjacent to the temporary church, facing south to Gebhardt Road. A parish-wide campaign for funds is headed by Father John D. Malley, pastor. Luke T. Smith is General Chairman for the drive. Paul O'Connell of Stevens and Berlin is architect and John C. Wenrich is artist.

New Principals Begin Duties

Nazareth Academy in Rochester and De Sales High School in Geneva, two of the four high schools in the diocese staffed by the Sister of St. Joseph of Rochester will open under new administrators this September.

At Nazareth Academy Sister Annunciata is now the principal, Sister Mariella, vice-principal and Sister Anne Joseph, Director of studies.

Sister Annunciata, who served as the Academy's vice-principal for 10 years, attended Nazareth College, received her B.A. degree from Canisius Col-an excellent record of scholarship and achievement.

De Sales High School in Geneva is now starting its 54th year, with an enrollment of 520 boys and girls.

ROCHESTER, N.Y.

Friday, Sept. 3, 1965

Vol. 76 No. 49

PAGE 5

THE CATHOLIC COURIER

Back to School For Principals

One hundred Elementary School principals of the Diocese of Rochester jumped the gun on the fall semester by attending a 4-day Principals Workshop at Nazareth College last week.

This was the second year that such a program has been offered, with the non-principals residing at the College for the full session.

"Effective Administration — First Year Evaluation" was the Tuesday morning topic presented by Diocesan Superintendent of Schools, Father William M. Roche. Four discussion sessions, one in the morning, two in the afternoon and one in the evening, followed.

"The frequent discussion periods give us principals a chance to share ideas and trade insights. Living together for the week also helps to strengthen the unity of our diocesan school system," commented Sister Ruth Agnes, S.S.J., who is principal of the Sacred Heart Cathedral school.

PRINCIPALS TALK SHOP at last week's Principals' Workshop held at Nazareth College. Shown in a moment of informal discussion are: Sister M. Laura, S.S.J. (Mother of Sorrows school); Sister M. Aloise, S.S.N.D. (Holy Family, Rochester); Sister M. Albina, S.S.N.D. (St. Philip Neri); Sister Teresa Margaret, R.S.M. (Our Lady of Mercy, Greece) and Sister Ambrose, R.S.N. (Holy Cross).

Red Mass Set Tues., Sept. 14

Annual Lawyers' Red Mass to be celebrated by Bishop Kearney is scheduled in St. Joseph's Church, Tuesday, Sept. 14 according to Supreme Court Justice Daniel J. O'Mara, general chairman.

An education trip to the Eastman Kodak featured Wednesday's program. The sisters saw a film, "Principles of Learning" which stressed the use of visual aids.

Various "interest groups" held discussions that evening. The principals were divided into groups which brought together those working in similar situations — inner city schools, rural schools, etc.

New approaches to the Sacrament of Penance were offered the participants on Thursday morning. Father James Lawlor, assistant Chancellor of the Diocese, was the speaker on "Punishment and Penitents."

"The Education Act of 1965" held the center of attention on Thursday afternoon. Associate Superintendent of Schools, Father Daniel Brent, outlined the provisions of the Federal Education law, and discussed various possibilities for participating in the program.

Jesuit, Father Joseph McBride, regional director of the Apostleship of Prayer, spoke on "The Eucharistic Crusade," on Friday morning.

A Question Box, which was also open to suggestions provided plenty of material for the discussion periods. One question that still remained unanswered for some 20 principals was:

"Where can I get a lay teacher?"

The School Office is trying hard to fill the 20 vacancies before school opens on Sept. 8. Experienced teachers, interested in returning to school work are invited to call the School office. (454-4825.)

SISTER ANNUNCIATA

lege and her M.A. from the University of Montreal. Sister also studied at McGill University and Middlebury College.

Sister Aline Joseph graduated from Nazareth College where she earned her B.A. degree and then received her M.A. at Notre Dame. Sister has taught Religion and Latin and served as Student Council Moderator at Nazareth previous to her new appointment.

Sister St. Andrew, the new principal, has taught at DeSales for the past 6 years. Sister received both her B.A. and M.A. degrees at Nazareth College and has also studied at Pius XII School at Manhattanville College.

SISTER ST. ANDREW

Nazareth Academy, with an enrollment of 1,080 students, begins its 95th year this September. The first Catholic high school for girls in the diocese it has built up over the years

FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD Abe Taylor greets Mr. Richard Steele whom he found kneeling in a creek near his home in Selma, Alabama, where the elderly man had been missing from Good Samaritan Nursing Home for four days. Known as "Uncle Buddy" to relatives and friends, Mr. Steele is now being treated at Good Samaritan Hospital where Abe paid him this visit.

Selma Hospital

Uncle Buddy's Back Home

Abe Taylor of Selma, is being credited by Good Samaritan Hospital authorities with possibly saving the life of Richard Steele, an elderly patient who wandered away from the Good Samaritan Hospital Nursing Home here and was lost for four days.

Abe heard about the missing man on a local TV program but didn't think the announcement about the missing "Uncle Buddy"—as Mr. Steele was known to his relatives and friends—concerned him. So when he first happened to see an old man kneeling in Valley Creek just below where Abe lives, the alert Negro youth didn't realize he was on the verge of becoming a hero.

WADING OUT into the shallow creek, Abe saw that "Uncle Buddy" would have to be carried out so he went back for help. He then called the elderly gentleman's niece who came over immediately and identified him. An ambulance was called and the exhausted man was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital where he will stay for several days.

For his alertness, young Abe was presented with a check for $100, a joint gift from the Good Samaritan Nursing Home and his niece. Abe used half of his money to buy some new school clothes and to finish paying for a new watch. He gave the rest to his mother.

Nursing home authorities say they do not know where "Uncle Buddy" strayed during the four days and nights he was missing. Because of his confused mental condition they don't expect to find out.

"We're just grateful to God that Abe found him before it was too late," they said. "A lot of prayers were answered."

Good Samaritan Hospital and Nursing Home is owned by the Edmundite Fathers and is supervised by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Rochester.

Precious Blood Fete is Mapped

Plans for the Fourth Annual Fall Festival scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 6 and 7, were discussed at a recent meeting and a committee was elected.

Starting to plan the festival are Rev. Louis LaFavia, C.P.P.S., Honorary Chairman; John Viatrine, general chairman; Charles Calandra, co-chairman; Madeline Pezulo, Secretary; Anthony Coccia, treasurer; James Calandra, ticket chairman; Ernest Blure, ticket co-chairman; James Johnson and John Capone, publicity.

Learning the TV Business

SISTER MARY ALVERA, S.S.N.D., of St. Peter and Paul Convent, gets a close-up look at the lens of the television camera during a visit to the RCA Institute, New York City, from Murray Dick, director. Sister was a student at the recently-completed Educational Television and Studio Operation course conducted this summer by the Fordham University Communication Arts Department.

Let your silent partner help you take advantage of "good buys" at over 900 area stores. Simply say "charge it" with a Marine Midland Charge Card.

Save money on bargains that momentarily may be too much for your budget to handle. Then pay at month's end, or use the extended payment plan. You'll find a Midland Charge Card a great bargain-hunting and budget-keeping convenience.

Make Marine Midland your silent partner

MARINE MIDLAND TRUST COMPANY

26 CONVENIENT OFFICES • MEMBER OF FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION