Student Dedication

At the offertory of the Mass opening the school year at Our Lady of Mercy High School, student representatives dedicated their year to God in a brief impressive ceremony. The Mass was celebrated by the school chaplain, Rev. Anthony Valente, on Sept. 10.

Flanking the altar on stage, just preceding the offertory of the Mass, these dozen representatives, in turn, applied a symbol of their group and made an invocation to which the student body responded: Lord, hear our prayer.

Father Valente then concluded the invocations with a plea for God's blessings on the faculty and student body and their activities during the coming year, ending with these words, which were the central theme of his homily: "And as we begin our school year, by the grace of the Holy Spirit, may we center our lives on Christ and recognize the love of Christ in all men, through Christ our Lord."

Prize Interview

JO ANN GRASS
Jo Ann Grass, a graduate of Our Lady of Mercy High School in June, has won first place in the feature category of the national Catholic School Press Association writing contest for her entry, "An Interview with Blanche Thompson" which appeared in the June Merced, Mercy's literary magazine.

Miss Grass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Grass, 210 Worthington Rd., was prefect of the Christian Leadership Group in her senior year at Mercy and was active on the publication staff. She is now beginning her freshman year at St. Michael's College, Toronto.

Rochester resident, Miss Thompson, is well known as teacher, lecturer, poet, and writer. (See story on her career elsewhere in this week's Courier-Journal.)

Fathers Club Meets

The Fathers' Club of St. Agnes High School will hold its first meeting next Thursday evening, Sept. 23, at the school.

"Initiation is always the first step, and so with this first meeting, we want to initiate all the fathers of the new freshman class into our fine club," announced William O'Leary, president.

Assisting Rev. Walter Cushing, chaplain of the club, and Mr. O'Leary are Orrin Brown, vice president; Albert Frank, treasurer; and Colin Townsend, secretary.

This meeting will begin promptly at 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria with a smorgasbord supper. Those unable to make the smorgasbord are nevertheless welcome to the business meeting and entertainment which will follow.

Attends Girls State

Julie Mancini, honor student and president of the Student Council of St. Agnes High School, attended the 1965 Empire Girls State at the State University of New York at Albany this summer.

Elected by her fellow delegates as publicity manager for her party, "The Nationalist Party" (the other was the Federalist Party), Julie learned about appropriate political devices. Party caucuses were followed by a "state election," climaxed by a candidate's inauguration ceremony. Julie also held the office of "state secretary."

The agenda for these delegates included lectures by state officials and a tour of the Albany government buildings.

"Our days were full and profitably so. All vividly pointed out woman's place in politics," said Julie on her return.

New Teachers

Sister Marie Margaret, principal of St. Agnes High School, conducted the first meeting of the entire faculty for the school year 1965-66 on Sept. 7. Sister welcomed all former members and introduced the new members.

SISTER ST. PETER will teach English, moderate a sophomore homeroom and teach sophomore religion. Sister is a graduate of Nazareth College.

SISTER THADEUS, also a graduate of Nazareth College, will have classes in English, have a freshman homeroom and teach freshman religion.

take charge of the physical education program at St. Agnes. Mrs. Young has previously been an instructor at Greece Olympic High School.

Miss Edna Chryssides, graduate of Nazareth College, will teach Latin.

Freshmen Oriented

Climaxing St. Agnes High School's Freshman Orientation Week, the Student Council will present a unique version of the well-known television show, "To Tell the Truth," at an assembly for the whole student body this afternoon, Friday, Sept. 17.

The school's newest class already feels at home on campus as a result of a full week of introductory activities. On Monday, Sister Marie Matthew, director of guidance, met with the freshman class to explain the details of the "Big Sister Plan." During the next three days, each member of the junior class met individually with her freshman "little sister," to get acquainted and to discuss St. Agnes High. A record hop followed.

At this afternoon's assembly, Student Council president Julie Mancini will be master of ceremonies for three separate panels, each of which will be questioned by groups of four freshmen in an effort to determine the identity of the real Student Council vice president Nora Keogh, Mission Unit president Sharon Leonard, and Palm editor Virginia Hall. As each panelist's identity is revealed, she will explain the aims and activities of the organization she represents.

The program was planned by the Student Council officers, with the help of Sister Josanna, moderator.
