Looking Back Cathedral Class of '15 Honored by 'Old Boys'

By THOMAS H. O'CONNOR
 The class of 1915 at old Cathedral High School was honored at the annual reunion of the old students and graduates of the Catholic high school for boys and girls founded by Bishop Hickey more than 50 years ago.

For many years now, once a year, the men who spent any time at the high school established in the old Cathedral grammar school building at Brown and the then Frank Streets have been getting together to renew friendships, recall happenings at the old school and citing fellow alumni who have made it in the big time.

One year the girls joined in the reunion and honor was paid to Mary Sheehan, distinguished educator and Honors Miller, equally distinguished lawyer and former corporation counsel for the City of Rochester.

This year happened to coincide with the 50th anniversary of the class including Father Albert J. Geiger, pastor of Holy Ghost Church, Coldwater and perennial president of the association as it is laughingly called. For a few moments it looked as though "Father Al" would be relegated to the past presidency but as far as we all knew when we left, he was re-elected.

Louis A. Langie, chairman of the board of Langie Fuel Co., presided as toastmaster. Cited for his achievements in the social, civic and religious circles of the city, Louis in turn picked out alumni of distinction in the group.

The reunion was the 50th for the one class but it brought a number from other classes to make it the largest gathering in several years.

GREETING the "old boys" as they kiddingly call them was Emmett Dailey, proprietor of the Wishing Well on Chili Ave., where these gatherings have been held for several years. Emmett recalled that when they first started the meeting at the Wishing Well a score or more years ago, they would begin gathering at 3 p.m. and play ball. Now they make it in time for dinner.

When Louis Langie looked around the group he picked out Lieutenant General Frank P. Mulcahy, Marine Corps, retired who had stayed over on a visit from his home in Coronado, Calif., for the dinner. Never one to seek recognition for his outstanding career as a Marine flyer in two World Wars and many other engagements, Frank acknowledged the introduction with "Thank you very much."

The gathering would be a "bust" without the incomparable and inimitable address of Dr. Harold Quigley (another of the alumni turned dentist) and he did not disappoint us.

Frank was at the dinner with his cousin, William Mulcahy, retired board chairman of the former Rochester Manufacturing Co. They had played golf with Daniel F. Fitzgerald, noted widely in law circles and a better than average golfer. Dan is regularly called upon at the reunion and responded with customary wit.

The fact that these "old boys" are getting farther away in time from the old school was pinpointed by John Fitzgerald, brother of Dan, being introduced as of the class of 1905. Leo Callahan, noted builder, who brought this writer to the dinner, is of the class of 1912, our class. Leo always claimed to be the school team's only "stationary center."

Credit for the successful yearly gathering was given to Neil Collins, of the 1915 anniversary class who has faithfully made the arrangements and sent out notices with assists from Tom Newcomb and Win Yengst.

SOME OF CATHEDRAL High's former athletes were cited. The deeds of Harold "Butch" Clark and Gerald "Red" Quigley in basketball, baseball and later with the Jeffs in pro football were recalled. Jim Cullen sat opposite to us and when introduced said he didn't make the Cathedral team but everyone who knows Jim, knows that he went on to cage fame with the Rochester Central as a center.

Dr. Paul LaLonde, Rochester's contribution to the mission field in Africa and who just returned from a trip around the world was called on. Paul had some anecdotes of the old school and said at any time he would show slides of his safaris in Africa and mission work on request.

Teachers of the old days were fondly remembered. Father James B. Keenan, the Latin, Physics and Chemistry teacher was recalled. One instance was mentioned of Father Keenan teaching in the amphitheater type class room and laboratory on the third floor. His nephew, the late John Keenan, later attorney and chairman of the Board of Education was reciting. John stumbled and Father Keenan asked "Did you really study?" John replied: "Well I looked it over." "You mean you overlooked it," his uncle said sharply.

The study hall was on the first floor and at the close of the day someone recalled, the Litany of the Blessed Virgin was recited. Students were tired and the responses were a bit automatic. As the teacher pronounced the titles in the Litany, she spied one of the students inattentive and sharply called "William Hammond!" and the response was "Pray for us."

THE REUNION brings back other alumni from distant spots. Darryl Culhane, executive assistant of the Boys Club of America comes from Washington, D.C., to be with his friends. Someone near us recalled that Dan and Del Predmore were related to Sister Prudentia, highly revered principal who kept us all in line.

As in other years the vote was taken to send a greeting to Sister M. Hubertine, beloved member of the faculty. She is always remembered with gratitude and affection.

The ranks of the physician graduates is dimming but Dr. Joseph B. Loder was on hand as he has been since the reunions began.

Flowers for the tables are provided each year by Dr. Charlie Oster—the school certainly provided its full share of dentists. It was said Charlie "pulled" the flowers out of his garden. His brother Art, now retiring from the artificial limb business was on hand.

I'd like to mention everyone at the dinner but this old man's memory is dimming too and space is running out. Rufus Maier and John Mattie who are often in the newspapers (in obits) were around. Bill Bell, Julie Schenk and Frank Riedman were there and if any were missed, I hope to be able to be there next year and write down their names—if possible.
