GOD LOVE YOU

Most Reverend

Fulton J. Sheen

I hate to beg! But the Good Lord has cast me in this role for-over fifteen years. For two reasons only, I find begging lovable: 1) I am doing it at the command of the Holy Father for His Society for the Propagation of the Faith: 2) He distributes what I collect to the poor of the world. Because the Good Lord has thrust a tin cup into my hands. I have made as the motto of my beggarly life the words of St. Paul: "I seek not yours, but you" (II Cor.

12:14). Like Paul, I do not want your money without your sanctification, nor your annuities without your charity, nor your bonds without your holiness, nor your almighty dollar without love of the Almighty, nor your checks without a desire that God may pardon your sins. What good will your 31 cents (our annual per capita Catholic contribution to the Holy Father for all the Missions in the world) do for any poor person of the world unless it also makes you love God more? Only as you enter into communion with Christ do you enter into the wondrous without making your heart blaze a little more for love of Christ, I would only be another fund raiser, or a high-pressure saleman, or a hatchet-man for the Missions. Behind your dollar bills and your checks and your money orders and your annuities, I pierce through the veil to meet you as a brother or sister in Christ. I try to make you see that you are more blessed when you give to those who have not than to those who already have much. What is the use of my helping a soul in Africa unless I help a soul in

I hate begging because it involves money; I love it because money can be exchanged for the blessing of Christ. I love it because I am not begging for one of the 639 religious societies in the world, but for all who serve the Missions. I love it because what I receive is distributed by the Holy Father, not by me. I love it because I beg not for the rich United States, but for the poorest of the poor and for Christ's sake. Because I hate to do it, make it easier by giving to the poor this Sunday,
