

Funeral Mass Offered For John H. Gould

Funeral Mass for John H. Gould, Sr. was offered by Monsignor Gerald Lambert in St. Monica's church on Thursday, Oct. 21. Bishop Kearney gave the absolution.

Also in the Sanctuary were Monsignor Patrick J. Flynn, and the Reverend Fathers John L. Maxwell, Louis J. Hohmann, William C. Sisson, William M. Barrett.

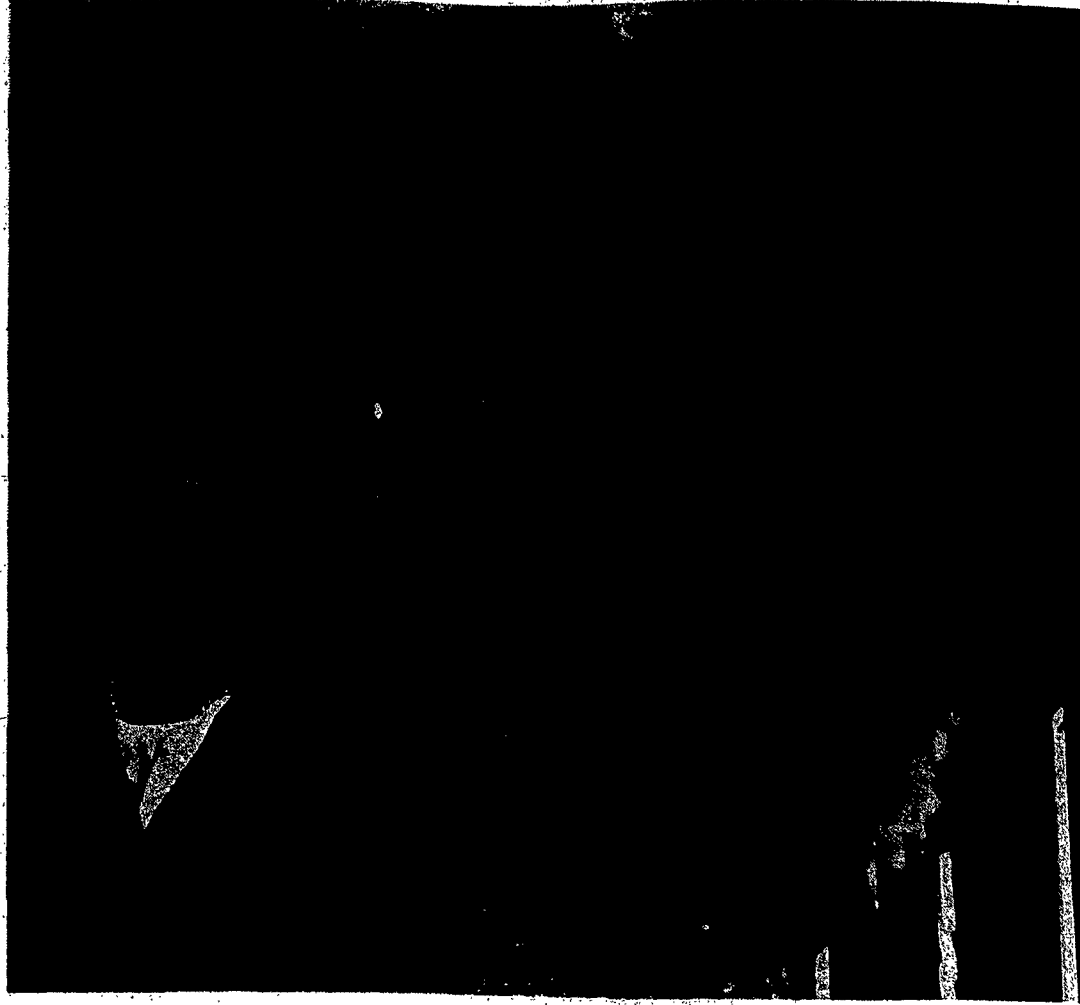

Surviving are his wife, Grace C., two sons, John H. Jr. and Thomas C., both of Rochester and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas F. Frawley, (Mary Grace) of St. Louis, Mo., and nine grandchildren, as well as several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Gould, of Nokomis, Fla. died Oct. 17, 1965 in the Sarasota, Fla. Memorial Hospital. Mr. Gould was employed by Prudential Life Insurance Company and served as superintendent of the firm's operations on the East side of Rochester and a large section of the Genesee River Valley.

He was former president of the Rochester Life Underwriter's Association. Mr. Gould was a prominent Catholic layman, having served as president of St. Monica's Holy Name Society. He also founded a similar society at the Church of the Epiphany in Venice, Fla. and served as its president for four years. He was later elected to the presidency of the South

A member of the Diocesan Ward of the Holy Name Union of Rochester, he was a trustee of St. Monica's church and a 50 year member of the Knights of Columbus. He also served on the Catholic Youth Association fund drives, the Rochester Chamber of Commerce health and safety committees and on the board of the former Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Blessing at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery was given by Monsignor Lambert. Arrangements by Henry D. Halloran and Son, Arnett Blvd.

'Marching Nun' Image Rapped

Peoria, Ill.—(NC)—A Sister of St. Joseph who took part in the Selma, Ala., march warned that the image of the marching nun should not attract young women to a life of religious consecration.

"The march was an incident, not the essence," said Sister Ernest Marie Schmidt, who has a doctorate in sociology and is chairman of the sociology department, Fontbonne College, St. Louis.

"Young women can be attracted or dismayed by what I did, but they must understand that the Selma march was an incident, although an important expression of my vocation as a religious woman in a specific instant," she told the (Sept. 12) convention of the Peoria Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

She later said in an interview: "Every two weeks since Selma I have been asked to join in demonstrations, even to march on Washington to protest the U.S. role in Vietnam. These invitations came from people who missed the point of our demonstration.

"Sisters," she said, "do have a part to play in race relations, but the demonstration is a last-resort technique, justified when a rural Negro community like Selma is denied normal channels for redress of grievances.

"My witness here and now will be a service of excellence. And that," she continued, "will not be as a demonstrator. Sisters like myself are professional educators, not professional protesters. My service of excellence is more likely to be in the classroom and in upgrading a syllabus for sociology students at Fontbonne."
