Aquinas Guard Chats Dances to Gracious Win

An international incident may well have been averted last weekend by the friendliness and charm of a group of boys from Aquinas Institute.

Invited to take part in the Canadian-National Color Guard contest in St. Catherine's Ontario, the Aquinas contingent walked off with first place honors and the coveted national trophy, maple leaves and all. Probably unaware that the Aquinas Color Guard is currently New York State champions and undefeated in competition this season, the Canadian sponsors asked Aquinas to be one of four American guards to help fill out the contest due to lack of Canadian entries. No one dreamed that an American guard could score high enough to win first prize. Except the Aquinas guard, that is.

Before the competition the announcer read a note from the Rochester boys dedicating their show to their good friends and neighbors to the north. Dave Behr, color guard captain, acted as an ambassador of good will, personally chatting with each competing group and exuding charm far above the call of duty.

To add insult to injury, second and third place trophies also were won by Yankees. The Blue Angels of Greece were runners-up followed by the Alpine Girls of Irondequoit. The best a Canadian corps could do was fourth place.

But all turned out well. And after the contest, there seemed to be no bad feeling among the Canadian and American boys and girls as they concentrated on dancing the frog, the monkey and the swim.

Mothers Sponsor Family Sunday

Hornell — "A happier family is but an earlier Heaven," George M. Hammond, told parents and children at the annual Holy Family Sunday family Communion breakfast in the Knights of Columbus club-house.

The Lincoln School principal was principal speaker at the annual event sponsored by St. Ann's Mothers Club. There were approximately 100 present.

The breakfast followed the 9 a.m. Mass in St. Ann's Church at which parishioners received Holy Communion in family groups in commemoration of the Feast of the Holy Family.

Speaking on "Harmony in the Home," Mr. Hammond reminded the youngsters of their obligation to honor their parents by obedience so that they might, like the Child in the Holy Family, "grow in strength, wisdom and knowledge."
