Fisher to Host College Cage Meet Next Year

St. John Fisher College will play host to the first annual Monroe County Collegiate Basketball Tournament on Jan. 27 and 28. Other area colleges involved are Brockport State Institute of Technology, Roberts Wesleyan, and Brockport State.

According to Fisher's athletic director, Bobby Wanzer, the tournament schedule will require some juggling of previously contracted home and away dates between the teams involved.

Pairings for the tournament will bracket Brockport with Roberts Wesleyan and R.I.T. with Fisher in the first round with the winners meeting the second night of play for the championship and the first-round losers engaging in a playoff for third place.

Site of the competition will rotate each year. In addition to Wanzer, athletic directors Lou Alexander Jr. of R.I.T., Bill Hughes of Roberts, and Huntley Parker of Brockport worked out plans for the midseason cage tournament.

Decanonize Jewish 'Victim' Rename Church

Vatican City — (RNS) — Vatican authorities have ordered the rededication of a chapel in Trent named for a ten-year-old boy long erroneously regarded as the victim of a Jewish "ritual murder" and venerated as a martyr.

Earlier, the Sacred Congregation of Rites invalidated the local beatification of young Simon Unverdraben, son of a tanner who disappeared on Holy Thursday, 1475, and whose body was found two days later floating in a stream near the home of one of 12 Jews. They were tried for his "murder," and most of them doomed to die by torture.

The Vatican has now ordered all relics of the child Simon removed from the chapel in Trent.
