

Frederick Copleston Set At Nazareth College

Frederick Copleston, an outstanding historian of philosophy will lecture at Nazareth College tonight, Friday, May 6, at 8 p.m. Father Copleston, at present Dean of Heythrop College, England is noted for his dialogue with the outstanding figures of contemporary Oxford philosophy. He is especially well-known for his BBC debate with Bertrand Russell on the existence of God.

His scholarly works include studies of Nietzsche, Schopenhauer; a history of philosophy which has already reached several volumes but is still incomplete; "Contemporary Philosophy," "Existentialism in Modern Man." He has numerous periodical articles, including such titles as the following:

...ary Reading Room will be entitled: "The Philosophical Relevance of Religious Experience." Earlier in the day, Father Copleston will have been honored at the University of Rochester by a luncheon given him by the Philosophy Department.

Aquinas Color Guard Tops At Lackawana
