

Promoted To New Position

DONALD PERRY

Donald L. Perry has been named Manager of Accounting for Will Scientific, a Rochester based East Coast distributor of laboratory equipment.

In his new position, Perry will be responsible for all budget and accounting analysis for the Corporation's twelve east coast subsidiaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry and their four children now reside at 37 Mill Road in Fairport. Members of St. John of Rochester parish, the Perrys are leader-couple for the Christian Family Movement in the Diocese of Rochester.

to accept and implement the changes called for without explaining to the people why they were called for in the first place.

There is no reason to believe that the end of the Council is also to be interpreted as the end of this movement of renewal and change; all indications in fact point in the opposite direction. Hence, the people of God are going to have to become accustomed to change as a constant factor in their religious life. Religious education obviously has a crucial role to play in making what may be for many an unexpected and not necessarily welcome transition into a meaningful and enriching experience.

Beyond any doubt, the parish priest has an indispensable and difficult role to assume in this work of religious education. It is indispensable because there simply is no other medium of religious education by means of which to reach large numbers of adult Catholics. It is difficult because the parish priest will of necessity be attempting to reach people from differing educational and social backgrounds with them every sort of built-in resistance to what is being said.

But in spite of these difficulties the job of genuine religious education in line with the contemporary posture of the Church must not be shirked. If it is, a further problem of a somewhat different kind will almost surely arise and in fact is already visible.

What I have in mind here is the interconnection between religious education in the parish and religious education in the high school and college. It soon becomes apparent to students that what is being said in the theology classroom and being done at the liturgical assembly in their school is out of joint with what they are hearing and doing in their parish.

Nothing is more likely to disaffect young people from a vigorous, parish-centered Christian life than this disjunction and discordance between the school and the parish. What are they left to assume but that the parish has decided to remain irrelevantly in the past maintaining a way of life which no longer holds meaning for them?

The Council was a challenge to the whole people of God but the response to that challenge made by those involved in religious education will be largely determinative of whether or not the renewal inaugurated by the Council will prove to be lasting.

Hornell Tour To Canada's Shrine

Hornell—Mrs. Caroline Helen Giglio has announced plans for her fourth pilgrimage to shrines in Canada.

A chartered bus will leave from St. Ann's Church on Aug. 7, returning to Hornell, Aug. 12. The tour will visit St. Anne de Beaupre, Our Lady of Cape, St. Joseph's Oratory and Mary, Queen of All Hearts Shrine.

Persons interested may contact Mrs. Giglio, 106 West Ave., Hornell. Pilgrims are asked to bring birth certificate or naturalization papers.

8th Graders Debate Capital Punishment

Grammar school debating teams from St. Anne's and Guardian Angels met recently to discuss the question, "Capital Punishment Should Be Abolished." Gordon DeHond, director of Forensics at Aquinas Institute, acted as judge of the debate.

Guardian Angels won the debate with a total of 76 points to St. Anne's 73. Mrs. DeHond awarded a trophy to the winning team.

The affirmative stand was taken by eighth graders from Guardian Angels. Constructive speeches were given by Alfred Gaspar and David Murphy. William Hodgetts acted as cross-examiner, and Paul Sullivan as rebuttalist. The eighth graders from St. Anne's took the Negative Approach and were Thomas Swiatek and David Vassallo, who gave constructive speeches. Brian McCarthy was cross-examiner, and Thomas Keating rebuttalist.

Another debate between the same teams was held earlier this spring, and concerned the question of Farm Subsidies.

Youngsters At Lourdes

London—(NC)—Some 1,400 youngsters, aged from seven to 16, took part in Britain's biggest school pilgrimage to Lourdes, the French Marian shrine.

About 500 of them were handicapped. They also included a party from a school for minor junior delinquents.

Wall of Silence Splits Races

Windsor, Ont. — (NC) — his acceptance address told the audience that men totally dedicated to justice have too often taken the view that all that has to be done is to eliminate the ghetto and install high-rise buildings.

What they forget is that Negroes living there feel that they have been removed from one slum to another and the "good men of justice" fall in their endeavor. "Good living conditions alone are not the answer to racial problems," he said.

Griffin said racism gains a foothold first when there is a loss of respect for the due process of human rights. He suggested that man return to the basic concept of dialogue,

He said that "good-willed men, the best-willed men, who would not consciously want to inflict an injustice on any man, can too easily accomplish that very thing through poor dialogue."

Architect's Award to HAR

San Francisco — (RNS) — A leading Roman Catholic liturgical authority was named here by the Guild for Religious Architecture as recipient of its 1966 Conover Award.

The honor, given annually for outstanding contributions in the field of religious architecture by a non-architect, went to Father Hans A. Reinhold of

Raffle Winner Gives Car Back

Yokutschi, Japan — A young man who won a new car in a parish raffle here, returned his prize to help build a school for mentally retarded children.

The raffle was conducted by Maryknoll Father Joseph Mooney of Arlington, Mass. First prize was a small Japanese car worth $1500.

The young man, said Father Mooney, had received ten tickets from the parish to sell. He had sold them all, but the person with the lucky ticket had not yet paid for it, and the young man still held the ticket.

"I always wanted to do something big for the Church," he said, as he handed the keys to the car back to Father Mooney.
