

AS FRANCISCAN POSTULANTS, Miss Margaret Loveland and Miss Nancy Shively.

Two Receive Habits As Franciscan Sisters.

Two young women from the Rochester Diocese participated in the clothing ceremony at St. Elizabeth's Motherhouse in Albany, N.Y., on Saturday, July 2.

Miss Margaret Loveland and Miss Nancy Shively were among the twenty postulants to receive the habit of the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis of Allegany on the altar from Rev. Mother Joan Marie, O.S.F., superior general; Sister M. Regina Catherine, O.S.F., mistress of postulants; and Sister Mary Regis, O.S.F., assistant mistress of postulants.

Margaret is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Loveland of St. Pius X parish, Rochester.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Shively, of St. Joseph's parish, Penfield.

The new novices will visit three days with parents, relatives and friends on the Motherhouse grounds.

Dialogue With Lutherans Began at N.Y. Fair

Yonkers, N.Y. — (RNS) — Who said the New York World's Fair was a flop? You can't prove it by talking to a Roman Catholic nun here.

To the bondholders it was a financial disaster, to Robert Moses it meant the first poor newspaper notices in a half-century of parks, parkways and Fair-building. But to Sister Miriam de Lourdes, a psychologist-nun of the Sisters of Charity, the World's Fair provided a turning point in ecumenism in Yonkers, the fifth largest city in New York State.

It led, she says, to a "local dialogue" involving Catholics and clergy and laymen of the Lutheran Church - Missouri Synod.

And a Missouri Synod pastor here regards a dialogue session devoted to Lutheran liturgy at a Catholic college as "a truly historic occasion in the history of Yonkers Christendom."

It all began at the Fair last September. Sister Miriam de Lourdes, professor of psychology at Elizabeth Seton College, accompanied by a fellow faculty member, was making her second visit to the Protestant and Orthodox Center.

The nuns made the rounds of Protestant exhibits. They

Toronto Only Seems 'Good'

Toronto — (RNS) — This city which is known as "Toronto the Good," isn't really, — it just seems to be, according to Roman Catholic Auxiliary Bishop Francis A. Marrocco.

The bishop charged that social planners have not spoken forcefully enough, or spearheaded enough community action in the fields of the aged, housing, hospitals, immigration, air and water pollution, poverty and disease.

Bishop Marrocco, addressing a luncheon of the Social Planning Council, said that despite all the publicity, a tour of downtown Toronto and parts of the suburbs reveals that "slums and inadequate housing are on the increase."

He said too many immigrants live in crowded, sub-human quarters, pay heavy rents and work long hours for low wages.

Opening Gate To Euthanasia

St. Louis — (NC) — Legalizing abortion would be "the gateway to vast euthanasia practice," a priest who specializes in medical-moral questions has warned.

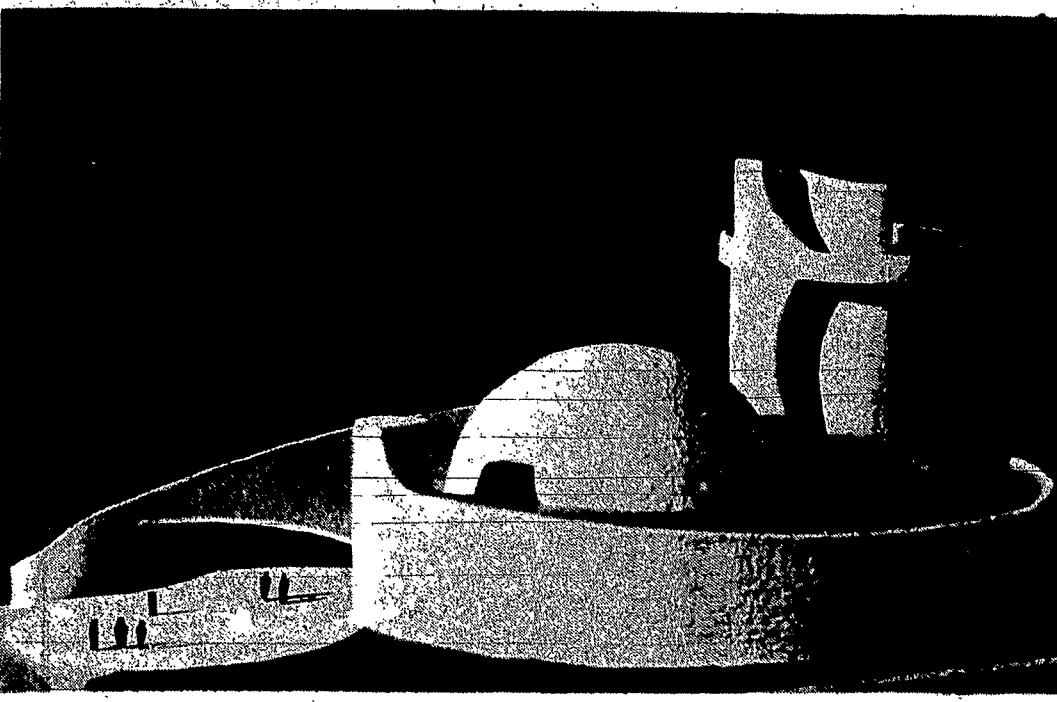

"If the day ever comes when the statute of any state empowers an individual, a practitioner or a professional society to decide that an innocent, defenseless unborn infant is expendable and his life can be terminated, then respect for life in general has been lost and the life of no living person is safe or secure," Msgr. Paul V. Harrington says.

Msgr. Harrington is vice official of the metropolitan tribunal of the Boston archdiocese and medico-moral consultant to the National Federation of Catholic Physicians' Guilds.

Ban Defied, Students Dance

Winston-Salem, N.C. — (RNS) — More than 500 students at Wake Forest College defied a 1957 ruling of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention which forbids dancing on the school campus.

The Convention, which supports Wake Forest and six other Baptist-affiliated schools in the state, in 1957 forbade dancing on the campuses. The ruling was made after the Wake Forest Board of Trustees adopted a regulation permitting supervised dancing on campus by undergraduates.

New Neighbor for Cenacle

The $1.4 million Strassenburgh Planetarium, as shown in model above, will be built on East Avenue by 1968. Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences is at right, Cenacle Convent Retreat House for Women is at left. The computerized planetarium is a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Strassenburgh.

'No Room for Robots'

San Francisco — (RNS) — Father Pedro Arrupe, General of the Society of Jesus, said here that Jesuit colleges and universities do not seek to turn out "automated Christians or citizens," but alumni committed to freedom and truth.

He told an audience of some 2,000 at the University of San Francisco that "there is no place for robots" in Jesuit education.

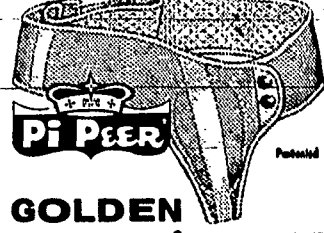

His audience included priest and lay faculty members, alumni, students and friends of the Jesuit-operated university. State and city government leaders also were present headed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California and Mayor John F. Shelley of San Francisco.

"The Jesuit system of education," said Father Arrupe, "aims to produce men and women who will possess sound judgment, high moral ideals, ability to evaluate critically and a keen social consciousness."

Father Arrupe, who confined his talk to Jesuit education, stated that "our universities shall indeed have failed" if they do not "develop men and women who can see the connection between freedom and the kind of education that frees men's minds to think straight, to know what is good and beautiful and true when they see it."

'Unrest' Cuts Church Going

Portland — (RNS) — Economic prosperity and "doctrinal unrest" are cutting into membership gains of America's second largest Lutheran denomination, the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, according to its national vice-president, Dr. George C. Wittner of St. Louis.

"Economic prosperity is causing people to forget about their need for God," he said in addressing the denomination's Northwest District Conference here.
