Catholics Join Y In Inter-faith Youth Project

Southbridge (Mass.—RNS)—A new dimension in ecumenical relations is taking form here with Catholic and Protestant clergymen and YMCA officials spearheading what is claimed to be the first YMCA Inter-Faith Youth Council program in the U.S.

Made up of teenage boys and girls from 15 Catholic and Protestant churches in the tri-town area of Southbridge, Sturbridge and Charlton, the council is designed to fill an existing gap of social, recreational and physical activities for youth of the community.

The council involves the YMCA as the center for teenagers, and Protestant and Catholic clergymen will work together in organizing its activities. YMCA facilities and its trained staff are used to conduct council recreational activities.

Floyd M. Baker, general secretary of the Southbridge YMCA, said the program is the only one of its kind in the country involving the cooperation of Protestant and Catholic clergy. Mr. Baker is a member of the YMCA National Youth Work Committee. "This committee serves to form policies and review activities being conducted at 'Y's' throughout the country, and no other 'Y' has ever reported conducting such a program," he added.

The existing cooperation between Protestants and Catholics in forming the council was sparked when Father Robert L. Killion, assistant at St. Mary's Catholic parish, and Father Raymond J. Page, administrator of Notre Dame (Catholic) parish, with the approval of Bishop Bernard J. Flanagan of Worcester, became members of the Y.
