Church Colleges to Heal 'Sacral, Secular' Schism

Newton, Mass. — (RNS) — The Jesuit president of Boston College declared here that one of the principal functions of a Catholic university in the era of Vatican II is "to heal the schism" between "sacral and secular" academic forces in the modern world.

The Very Rev. Michael P. Walsh, S.J., spoke at a convocation of some 800 Jesuit and lay faculty members opening the academic year. Some 5,600 students are enrolled in the university's four undergraduate schools.

Father Walsh is president of the college and university division of the National Catholic Education Association.

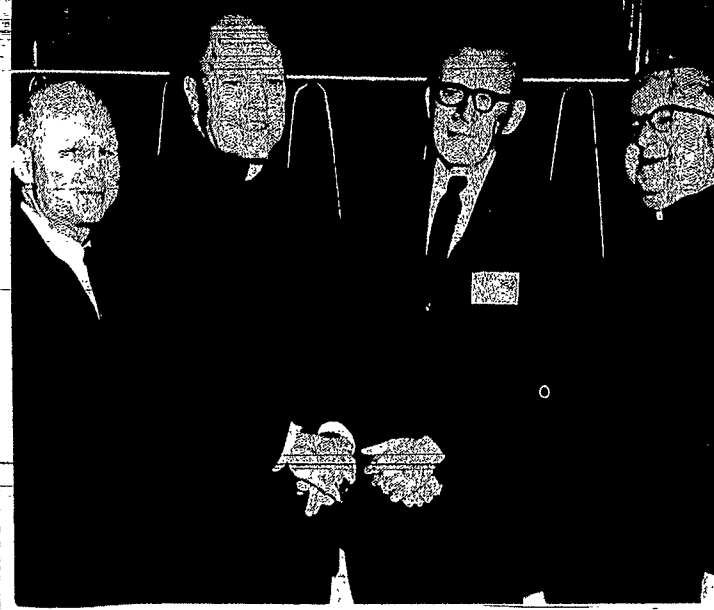

He stressed that the contemporary Catholic university must be free "to analyze and critically evaluate the formulations, policies, defenses, and practical orientations" of the Church in the modern world.

"This role of the Catholic university," he said, "is to be performed in no narrow parochial sense by a closed group of scholars engaged in selective scholarship but in an open scholarship that embraces every

Puerto Apo

By FRANK MASLIN
(This is the eighth in a series of the Legion of Mary, the Diocese of Rochester. Today's article spotlights the work with the Puerto Rican community in the city of Rochester.)

A living litany to Mary exists in the Diocese of Rochester. Each group, or primum, of the Legion of Mary is identified by one of the Blessed Mother's titles. Any litany, each one represents a part of the whole, yet is distinct from the others.

Imagine one hundred four cards one for each primum in the diocese. Take any card, any card, you have chosen Our Lady of Guadalupe.

Our Lady of Guadalupe, meeting at Our Lady of the Holy Church, is distinctive cause it represents a diocese rather than a primum. It illustrates how primum groups of the Legion are formed to meet a particular need.

Spiritual director of the Lady of Guadalupe is Fr. Charles A. Schenkel, C.S.S.R., St. Joseph's Church. In 1955, he was appointed Bishop Kearney as a special ordinator to assist the clergy to reach and serve Spanish-speaking people of the diocese of Rochester.

In tracing the lineage of primums, Father Schenkel is quick to mention that signor Arthur Rigan, former director of Catholic Charities was one of the first to start the Legion of Mary to help the Church to reach Puerto Rican families who were arriving in Rochester ever increasing numbers. Lady, Spouse of St. Joseph primum made this an important part of their work, this group with Father J. Schenkel as their spiritual director had grown to twenty members by January 1966.

It was at this same time Our Lady of Guadalupe primum was born. Father J. Schenkel's group was large and to be divided, and Fr. Schenkel felt that members of the Legion could help his special apostolate. So Lady of Guadalupe was to assist in the apostolate to Spanish-speaking people.

Soon the eleventh anniversary of this primum was completed. What have done? What are they going to do? God alone knows the answer. When the Legion leaves a home now, the que they are most often asked "Can't you come back soon?"

There have been real lasting friendships established over the years.

Small wonder it is impossible to listen to Father Schenkel speak for even a few minutes and not gain an insight into the love for the people he serves. He will tap a pencil on his desk and say, "Remember now, to Ricans are American born. True, they have their own culture, it is a beautiful culture, and they should be loved to keep it. The mission they leave their land is to help them to become Americans. How else could we leave those lovely islands?"

"Our Legion here has welcomed them to a new strange surroundings. It is to speak Spanish. There ways someone who can't stand."

Our Lady of Guadalupe primum was born in the line of the Legion of Mary to the Rochester diocese, even study the daily litany.
