THE POWER OF THE PRESS

The "power of the press" is not an idle phrase. By disseminating news and information, the nation's printing industry helps create a better informed, better educated America. More and more quantities of printed matter are avidly read each year.

To produce the vast supply of printed material, the "power of the press" is dependent upon an ample supply of power provided by the nation's electric utilities.

Like the Printing Industry, the Rochester Gas and Electric Corporation must be prepared to meet the future needs of all its customers with careful planning and expansion.

The 450,000 KW Robert Emmett Ginna Nuclear Power Plant, located in Ontario, New York and due to be in operation in 1969, assures that the increasing demands for adequate power will be met.
