Our brothers in mission lands feel the same way. The primary purpose of the missionary is to train teachers, priests, brothers and religious who understand the psychology and history of the people they serve. The missionary may leave his mark as one did on one of my good friends in Nigeria,

Brian Boru Usanga. An Irish missionary baptized him Brian after he was born. Although his first name was Irish, his family name was African. Today he is a Bishop. We may give Christian names but we must at the same time prepare native priests and bishops. The missionary who does not

God Love You

"Send missionaries to foreign lands." This appeal, shouted through the ages, is still heard and must be heard.

But the Missions have grown up and today we must distinguish between missionaries from the outside and native clergy. It is sad but true that in the past missionaries often did not develop a native clergy. Such was the case in the Philippines as well as in the Congo and the rest of Africa. Regardless of our affection for Asians or Africans, we would not want all the clergy in the United States recruited from other lands. Rightly we would feel that we integrate his mission into the local community is like an

When missionaries are driven out of a country it is like the tearing down of a scaffolding, leaving the Church there half built. If they have left no native priests behind, they have left the Church with only part of a foundation. Our missionaries have to remember that they are "Western," belonging to a segment of the world now on the defensive-the affluent West. We are saving souls in the Missions, but that is not all we do! We are saving situations, societies, secular institutions but this cannot wait until "tomorrow" for tremendous, demonic forces are destroying the "humanness" of humanity. And yet today in many of the seminaries of Africa we turn away 150 to 200 young men each year simply because we cannot find enough funds to support

Many of you readers have not a priest in the family. Many of you are perhaps childess. Many of you reading about the desperate world situation ask "what can I as an individual do?" If you send us $250 a year for six years, or $1,500 which will completely educate a native priest, you will have brought a nation closer to God through one of their own. The financial burden of this may be too great for some. But do not let this deter you! No matter how small a sacrifice you make, it will help toward the education of a native priest-son. Let the Holy Father choose the seminarian and the seminary. You may never know the name of your adopted priest but your name will ever be upon his lips. . . . those same lips each day for his entire life turn bread and wine into IIIs Body and Blood and care for thousands of souls because of you. Write to me,

When begging for Christ, we ask not just for money but any valuables that can be sold and the money given to the poor. So send us your old gold and jewelry-look in the dusty corners of your jewel box or top drawer for your grandparents' gold eyeglass frames or watches, for the bracelet or ring you no longer wear, the culf links you never liked. Your semi-precious and precious jewels will win precious souls for Christ. Our addess: The Society for the more precious than anything I could ever give up for the poor
