ND Group In Experiment

Twenty-four Notre Dame High School girls participated in a controlled experiment this week, conducted by a Cornell University doctoral candidate in Home Economics, Sister Beatrice Gaudreau.

The girls, who were matched according to similar skills, were divided into two groups of twelve each and given a test. Then one group, the experimental, worked on a program of instruction about French Canadian furniture, after which both groups, experimental and control, were given another test.

Purpose of the experiment was to give an idea of the teaching value of the program of instruction.

ALL "POP" REGISTRANTS

ONLY 28 DAYS REMAINING IN THIS FIRST "POP" GAME!!! Please, please, POP CHAIRLADIES, remind your label-savers they have only a short time to turn in their collections. We don't want you left "holding the bag"—an empty one, that is!

So—set your group's deadline one week ahead of the POP deadline . . . this will allow you several days to sort, record, and deliver your labels to the COURIER "POP" Collection Depot at St. Peter and Paul's School—BEFORE March 31.

And don't be discouraged if your collection of labels seems small. As we said at the start of the POP program, this is not a lottery or a chance. Every group is bound to receive some "POP" Award. The amount depends strictly on the loyalty and cooperation of the group's members.

We ask only one favor: don't wait until the end of March to make your first turn-in but do it now. Remember, anything that come in after March 31 can't be counted for this First Game.

Also, please don't include labels, coupons, etc. from items not on the official "POP" list. Much as we appreciate your diligence in saving these, we can't accept them. There are certain mission groups which routinely collect such coupons, etc. May we suggest that you turn over to them whatever you have in this line. They'll be appreciated.

We wish we could show you the delightful "POP" poster made by three 8th grade pupils at St. Theresa's School—Linda Hoffman, Regina Sipaila, and Teresa Krokys. It was so imaginative and colorful that we have it displayed on our office door. Congratulations to some mighty talented young ladies who should go far in the art world.

Here is a "quickie casserole" for those days when you have a limited time schedule (and budget!) . . . Your teenager might like to try it too for the gang after the game.

"POP" QUICKIE CASSEROLE

7 oz. PRINCE MACARONI—Elbows, Shells, or what have you
3 tbl. BLUE BONNET MARGARINE
1 medium onion, chopped
½ lb. ground beef
1 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1 cup finely chopped celery
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Melt Blue Bonnett Margarine in frying pan. Add onion and fry slightly. Add meat and cook until brown. Add tomato sauce, celery and seasonings. Cover. While this is simmering, cook Prince Macaroni according to package direction. When tender, drain Prince Macaroni and pour on the hot sauce immediately. Serve with tossed green salad, hot rolls, and your family's favorite Royal pudding for dessert.

A good follow-up to any meal — that heftier CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE and a young friend tells us that SEVEN-UP —warmed, not boiled, with a bit of stick cinnamon is a real tasty treat to take off winter's chill.
