FINAL WEEK OF THE FIRST POP GAME

No Turn Ins after March 31st will be counted in this first game total. BE SURE TO MAKE YOUR TURN IN THIS WEEK. St. Peter and Paul's School Hall. Off street parking. Daily 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday 10 to noon.

Isn't it exciting? The first "POP" game is almost over. Don't you wonder who the top winners will be? It may be your organization. Get your labels to your POP chairlady. Don't put it off. A second "POP" game will start April 1st even bigger and better. New "POP" products, another opportunity to get cash awards for your club.

If your club didn't get in on the first game, now's the time to register. Every organization has some project that can use cash. School needs, altar needs, poor baskets — so many other things. — So call Mrs. Ennis at 454-7050 today. Registration is open to all nonprofit organizations whether church connected or not. Join the FUNd raising POP crowd.

Mrs. Paul Granfors wins 200 bonus points for St. Anne's Home School Association in Palmyra for this recipe for cookies. It makes 4 dozen large cookies for those hungry youngsters.

At St. James Mercy Nurse Aide Course

Hornell — A Nurse Aide Course, sponsored by the federally financed On-The-Job Training Program, is now underway for fourteen trainees at the St. James Mercy Hospital.

The training program, scheduled to run for ten-weeks, with one hundred hours of instruction, will include related classroom instruction with theory put into practice under close supervision of instructors.

Instruction will be handled by qualified instructors under the direction of the hospital's Nursing Service department.

Also, staff members from the hospital's dietary, housekeeping, personnel, public relations and department of religion will instruct in related areas.

Included in the course will be classes on personal appearance, health and conduct. The administering of simple treatments and bedside patient care will include lessons in the bathing and dressing of patients, making beds, serving food and assistance of patients personal care.

Also, the care of patients in plaster casts or traction; moving patients from wheelchairs or stretchers; and assisting patients walking with cane, crutches and walkers.

The students will receive instruction in steril techniques which will include the cleaning and sterilizing of instruments and methods employed to avoid infection of self and patient. Also, methods employed to avoid contamination of equipment and supplies.

Confirmation of the program was received in a letter from Frank J. Neher, Regional Director of the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training which said in part, "My sincere congratulations to you for cooperating with the United States Department of Labor, Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training in a most important manpower development program."

Sister Mary Scholastica, supervisor of nursing services and director of the program said, "We are very happy to have this opportunity to train nurses aides to assist the professional nurse staff in caring for patients. The program should most certainly help alleviate the shortage of qualified aides."

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY REPORTS TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMUNITY...

The Annual Report, recently mailed to Kodak share owners and employees, shows that 1966 was a year of exceptional progress for the company. Here is some information from the Annual Report, together with some additional facts which may be of particular interest to you—the people of the community.

KODAK'S 1966 SALES DOLLAR

41%	$ 7.20 billion	Applied Photography
28%	$ 4.86 billion	Amateur Photography
22%	$ 3.83 billion	Fibers, Plastics, & Industrial Chemicals
9%	$ 1.53 billion	Special Products
	100%	$17.42 billion

SALES — In 1966, customers bought more Kodak products and services than ever before. Sales by Kodak units in the United States rose to $1,742 million in 1966, a 19% increase over the gratifying results of the previous year.

SUPPLIERS — Approximately 1,200 Monroe County firms share important supporting roles in Kodak progress. In 1966, Eastman Kodak's Rochester units purchased about $68 million in supplies, services, and materials from these local suppliers and subcontractors.

RESEARCH — Locally, several thousand men and women are engaged in research and development work. Their achievements have helped to create more than 100 new and improved Kodak products in 1966 and for each of the past several years. Products which serve expanding customer needs. Last year, Kodak invested more than $76 million for research and development in the U.S. plants and laboratories.

EMPLOYEES — The 11,000 men and women of the company's Rochester units earned about $1.5 million in wages, salaries and benefits last year. The people pictured here are members of the team that has created and produced the new compact Kodak Instamatic still cameras. The team is made up of thousands of others who contribute the full knowledge and abilities that make possible the wide range of high quality Kodak products.

SHARE OWNERS — Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Searing Jr. and their three children are among the 25,000 Monroe County residents who own Kodak stock. Last year, share owners in this community received approximately $28 million in dividends as a return on their investment in the company.

TAXES — The taxes paid by Kodak and other corporations help to pay for children's education... for highway construction... for urban renewal programs... and for various other government services. Kodak units across the nation paid almost $108 million in federal, state, and local taxes in 1966.

IMPROVEMENTS — By continuing to build modern and efficient facilities, Kodak is providing the plants and equipment to serve the growing needs of millions of customers. Over the past five years, more than $26 million has been invested to improve the units in the Rochester area. In 1967 alone, the company plans to spend some $113 million on improvements here.

TRAINING AND EDUCATION — As part of its efforts to promote equal employment opportunities, Kodak has been conducting a number of special training programs to help undereducated people upgrade their skills. The Board for Professional Education assists the company in some of these special programs. For those employees who continue their education beyond regular school years, Kodak provides full-tuition refund. More than 2,700 men and women in the United States sharpened their skills and expanded their intellectual horizons through the tuition-aid plan in the 1965-66 academic year.
