Agency Studies Marriage

New York — (RNS) — Formation of an interfaith Commission on Marriage and Family Life has been completed here.

Members of the commission have been named by the National Council of Churches, the U.S. Catholic Conference (formerly the National Catholic Welfare Conference) and the Synagogue Council of America.

Rabbi Mordecai L. Brill, chairman of the Synagogue Council Committee on the Family and a staff member of the American Foundation for Religion and Psychiatry, has been named chairman of the 18-member commission.

A Roman Catholic layman, William Maughan, a public relations specialist, is vice chairman.

The Rev. William Genne, coordinator of the National Council of Churches' Commission on Marriage and Family, is secretary.

In explaining the purpose of the interreligious commission, Mr. Genne observed that "we hear so much about the differences between religious groups in this area that we need to affirm the 90 per cent of our stands on family life in which we agree."

Representatives of the three sponsoring agencies last year drew up a joint statement on marriage and family life which was subsequently adopted by the parent bodies.

Affirming that God is the founder of the family, that statement said "sexuality is to be accepted with thanksgiving and used within marriage with reverence and joy."

"The child is usually damaged when family living collapses," the statement warned. "When this happens on a massive scale, the community itself is crippled." It pledged that the major U.S. religious groups will "join forces in exploring all ways and means available to preserve and strengthen family life in America to the end that each person may enjoy fulfillment in dignity, justice and peace."

Historic Scroll At Expo '67

Montreal — (RNS) — The 2,000-year-old Habakkuk, one of the seven Dead Sea scrolls and which will be the oldest exhibit at the Expo '67 World Fair, arrived here and has been placed in a bank's vault for safekeeping.

It will remain there until the opening of Expo on April 28.

The scroll, to be shown at the Israeli Pavilion, is the Commentary of Habakkuk, a minor prophet, which appears in the Old Testament. It was discovered in 1947.

Measuring five and one-half inches wide by four and one-half feet long, the scroll is made from strips of leather parchment sewn together with flaxen thread. It will be displayed in a specially constructed case in the entrance hall of the Israeli Pavilion.

The scroll, because of its delicacy, was transported from Tel Aviv to Montreal via New York in a sealed container to protect it against temperature and humidity. Israeli scientists spent four months studying the system used for protecting the original U.S. Declaration of Independence on display in Washington.

Easy Abortion To be Opposed

Ottawa — (RNS) — Although Canada's Roman Catholic bishops have ended their opposition to more liberal laws on divorce and contraception, some of their number served notice here that legalized abortion is one field they will oppose vehemently.

During a meeting of the Canadian Catholic Conference, the bishops delivered a brief to the Senate-House of Commons committee on divorce saying they would not oppose divorce reforms.

Last October, they told Commons health and welfare committee they would not oppose amendments to the Criminal Code which now forbids dissemination of birth control information and the sale of contraceptives.

But in an interview here, Co-adjutor Archbishop Philip P. Pocock of Toronto, said the principles behind the bishops' stand on birth control would have "an entirely different application in the area of abortion."

Catholic sources here said a letter will be sent to the federal government asking a delay in any laws that would widen grounds for abortion. The letter will also tell the government that the CCC is preparing a report on abortion from the Roman Catholic point of view. It may be finished this summer and be ready for the next CCC meeting in the fall.
