

Pope Paul will be in Fatima, Portugal, tomorrow, Saturday, May 13, to say a Mass for peace at the spot where three shepherd children said they saw a series of apparitions of the Blessed Virgin Mary in 1917. First apparition was on May 13 dimaxed in October with thousands seeing the sun spin in the sky while the youngsters heard our Lady promise eventual peace for the world. Catholics throughout the world will mark 1967 as a year of jubilee with prayers for peace.

Only survivor of the 1917 apparitions is Sister Lucy, now a Carmelite nun. Other two children died in an epidemic soon after end of World War

A massive shrine church stands near spot where 1917 apparitions of the Virgin took place. A small chapel, at left, stands on site where our Lady spoke to children.

Virgin Mary

Bridge or Barrier?

Oakland, Calif. — (RNS) — Protestant and Roman Catholic theologians and a Protestant pastor agreed here that devotion to the Virgin Mary is less a barrier to church unity than it was in past years.

They were panelists at open-end discussions at the Fourth National Workshop for Christian Unity. The workshop was sponsored by the Roman Catholic Bishop Floyd L. Begin of Oakland.

Discussions centered on issues which tend to divide Christians today; among them were Authority in the Church, Common Worship, Jewish-Christians affairs, and Mariology.

Of devotion to Mary, the Rev. George Wilson, pastor of Palo Alto's First Presbyterian church, said: "It is true that all generations shall call me blessed, why shouldn't we?"

He noted that the average Protestant has difficulty in accepting Catholic extension of revelation to such assumption as "Mary surely would have done, or would have felt, or would have said..." Aside from this objection, he said that Mariology is no longer an important barrier among religious bodies.

Father Frank B. Norris, professor of systematic theology at St. Patrick's Catholic Seminary in Menlo Park, Calif., listed the current Catholic position on devotion to Mary.

- Mariology is healthy in a sound ecclesiology.
 - What is not rooted in sound theology must be abandoned.
- He credited the Second Vatican Council with "getting us back in the right orientation providing a ground where Marian questions can be discussed frankly. Anything Marian not squaring with Church doctrine must be ended."
- Claiming that "there is no room for 'theologically bankrupt' devotions," Father Norris said: "We as Catholics have an enormous job to do in carrying out the Council's plan."
- Speaking on Authority in the Church, Dominican Father Kevin

Wall, prior of the Institute for Advanced Thomistic and Ecumenical Studies in Berkeley, cautioned that democratic election of bishops is not a panacea for the solution of the so-called crisis of authority in the Church.

"The difficulty has not been the designation of authority but that too often decisions are made in complete secrecy. Modern man simply does not trust secret operations."

"Therefore, the real problem is not designation of authority but rather how authority is used," Father Wall said.

Some obstacles to Jewish-Christian dialogue remain, a panel on that subject concluded. Msgr. Mark J. Hurley, assistant chancellor of the Archdiocese of San Francisco and a member of the commission that prepared the Catholic-Jewish guidelines, said the chief obstacle is Jewish consciousness of a long history of anti-Semitism by Christians.

Noting that the history of anti-Semitism has, to be told, Catholic and Protestant panelists endorsed the increasing trend to common worship, but agreed that attempts to adopt open Communion were too premature.

Why is Rochester Telephone building new facilities today?

Because tomorrow is coming.

Tomorrow is coming, and Rochester Telephone must be ready. By 1970 our system will have grown to half a million telephones. Our customers will be placing 2,000,000 calls a day, an average of 8 calls per customer per day. Our network of wire in cable will have expanded to nearly 3,000,000 miles, enough to wrap around the world 120 times. That's why we're rushing new facilities at 120 Plymouth Avenue North (on the inner loop). It will house 250 employees of our Traffic and Plant Departments and handle, among other things, all long distance calls originating in Rochester. And in Greece we're constructing a new building on Long Pond Road which will provide facilities for two new central offices to meet future demands in this rapidly growing area.

Meanwhile, work goes forward on expansion of cable facilities throughout the Rochester Telephone 2300 square mile territory so that individual and 2-party line services will be available to thousands more customers. Such services were increased two and a half times over the past five years. Ultimately multi-party lines will be eliminated. But it isn't just to keep abreast that Rochester Telephone continues modernization of its system. It's to move out ahead—to provide its customers with the most sophisticated telecommunications services the industry can offer. We're building in Rochester—and all over the territory—for you (and a half-million "neighbors" of yours) so that you may continue to enjoy the best in telephone services.
