Spring is here. Summer is around the corner. It is time to kick off shoes, run barefoot. But these homeless children huddle together for warmth. 100,000 like them in their city of Calcutta have no shoes - no choice of where to sleep - no bed other than the street.

When you finish picking up your shoes at night, remember millions like these around the world. The Holy Father has 100,000 dedicated men and women working in the Missions to give shelter to the homeless in Christ's name. Dear Monsignor O'Meara: Here is the price of one pair of shoes that I can do without. Rush it to where it is most needed.
