Almost two million human beings nobody wants are wretched, innocent victims of war in the Near East.

Please help them today.

One and three quarter million people are caught in a web of misery in the Near East.

They are the refugees who for twenty years have been homeless, dislocated pawns whom nobody wants — their numbers swollen now by half a million other displaced victims of the latest war.

They are in critical condition . . . overrun . . . their bare work opportunities severed . . . their food supplies cut off. Many are wounded and without medical attention. Some roam the desert seeking hospice. Their future is black.

The Catholic Near East Welfare Association, through its Pontifical Mission for Palestine, has direct routes to these unfortunates. They are our charges, so designated by the Holy Father. But our funds are already drained. We can ease the heavy crosses of these people only if you help us do it.

These pitiful war victims are centered in the Gaza Strip; in Jordan; in Lebanon, and in the deserts of Syria and Sinai. They are human beings without dignity, without love.

More than half of them are children. Some can't see; some can't hear or speak. Many of them have leprosy. They wear rags.

Their lot is desperately serious. Right now it is an urgent matter of the fundamentals for survival— of bread, blankets, medical help and perhaps the encouraging word that somebody cares.

Pope Paul has made a substantial gift for their relief. Will you give? In an extraordinary way?

This is a grave emergency; the needs are truly overwhelming.

Dear Monsignor Nolan:

I want to add my gift to the Holy Father's to ease the awful plight of the war-swollen refugees in the Near East.

I enclose $ _____ to help relieve this grave emergency.
